NO NEW WAR;
FENG REVOLTS

Greatest of Wars in Orient
Forecast in London as Military Leader Defies Nationalists.

All Telegraph Lines Cut,
Bridges, Rails Wrecked
as Rebels Prepare; Feng Believed Stronger.

London, May 19.—(United News.) The Daily Mail's correspondent at Shanghai said tonight that Marshal Feng Yuh-siang had declared war on the nationalist government headed by Chiang Kai-shek.

The outbreak of one of the "greatest of China wars" is expected momentarily, the correspondent said. Both sides have concentrated troops in Honan and Shensi provinces or on the borders and are accelerating military preparations, the dispatch said.

The Daily Mail's dispatch said Feng's declaration of war was his reply to an ultimatum issued by Chiang Kai-shek last week, demanding that Feng cease his "war-like preparations."

The powerful Marshal Feng, in his reply, charged the head of the nationalist government with squandering government funds and exploiting the presidential office for personal ends. Feng formerly was minister of war in the nationalist government.

The rebellious war lord is withdrawing his troops into Honan and Shensi provinces and indulging in "an orgy of destruction," according to the dispatch. It was estimated that Feng's troops did $1,000,000 damage by destroying bridges and communication lines along the Yellow river and Honan border as they withdrew to points of concentration.

The Daily Mail said Chiang Kai-shek called a meeting of the war council at Nanking last Saturday and decided to move his forces against Marshal Feng.

ALL TELEGRAPH LINES DESTROYED.
Hankow, China, May 19.—(United News.)—Marshal Feng Yuh-siang, probably the most powerful war lord in China, apparently has opened hostilities with the nationalist government at Nanking.

Feng's troops have dynamited the Kihnan bridge over the Yellow river (Hwang Ho) and are withdrawing to a point of concentration, according to advice received here today.

Cheng Chow, in Honan province, appeared to be the place of concentration for the troops of Feng, who has remained neutral recently during attempts of the nationalist government to put down the Wuhanites in Hupoh and adjoining provinces as well as rebels who have attacked Canton.

Feng's troops also destroyed telegraph lines and two smaller bridges on the border line between Kiangsi and Honan provinces. The full extent and purpose of Marshal Feng's maneuvers were uncertain.

GENERAL DEMAND
GENERAL CHIANG QUIT.
London, May 19.—(United News.) The Observer's correspondent at Shanghai reported tonight that junior generals in the army of Marshal Feng Yuh-siang had issued a proclamation demanding the dismissal of General Chiang Kai-shek, head of the nationalist government.

The proclamation, the correspondent said he understood, was the Chinese manner of declaring war. It was generally believed that Feng's forces would be superior to the nationalist government's troops in case of conflict.

A special musical program was given by Mrs. A. Boatman, who played improvisations of famous college hymns and songs. She also played during the procession which was led by Dr. James E. Routh, master of ceremonies.

Immediately following the procession, the Alma Mater hymn was sung by Henry Meeks. The solo was followed by the invocation by Rev. Robert Roberts, pastor of the Church of Business Administration, gave the class salutatory. He was chosen for that honor by members of his graduating class.

In the commencement address, Dr. Stafford spoke at length on "the young man facing the world with all its perils and possibilities." He pointed out that greatness comes not in quantity, but in the planning and doing well of the things that are at hand. He also pointed out that although a college diploma has been earned, there is yet more to be learned by those who are at the threshold of the business world.

"The student must have an open mind to conquer public opinion," he said, "and the conquerer is the one who does his work."

Following Dr. Stafford's address, the college degrees and diplomas were presented. Dr. George F. Nicolassen presented the degrees in the school of liberal arts. Dr. Herman J. Gaertner presented 20 degrees in the school of education and 10 degrees in the graduate school of education. Dr. James E. 24-Hour Rainfall Adds to Peril of Arkansas Planters as Red River Reaches Flood Stage.

Biloxi, Miss., May 19.—(AP)—Governor Theo. Bilbo tonight ordered 300 convicts from the Parchman prison farm to proceed to Mound's Landing, 18 miles north of Greenville, Miss., where the levee was reported crumbling and further requested the adjutant-general to have troops ready to move into that territory if necessary.

The governor, visiting the Beauvoir Soldiers' home here today, considered the levee situation so serious at Mound's Landing that he planned to stay up all night and keep in constant touch with the adjutant-general's office at Jackson, officials at Beauvoir home said in speaking for Mr. Bilbo.

RED RIVER FLOODS
IN ARKANSAS.
Little Rock, Ark., May 19.—(AP)—The flood scene in Arkansas shifted today from the Arkansas and White rivers, which were reported stationary or falling, to the Red river in the southwestern part of the state, where heavy downpours during the past 24 hours sent that stream out of its banks at two points.

The Red river reached flood stage at Fulton and Index today, threatening many thousands of acres of land protected only by levees thrown up after the 1927 flood. Levees were too weak to withstand further rises.

Plantation and farm owners at those points along the Red river were preparing to remove tenants and livestock to high ground. Several hundred acres here and there were threatened by additional land probably will be under water by tomorrow, observers said.

The Arkansas river, which has been at flood stage for several days, apparently has reached its crest at all points except possibly Fort Smith, and was either stationary or falling.

Weather bureau observers were awaiting the effect of the heavy rains in Oklahoma yesterday, which were new forecasts for that stream. Meteorologist H. S. Cole here said, however, he believed the river will fall at such a rapid rate that it will be in the upper reaches, and was reported stationary at most points along the lower valley.

HOUSE WILL WHIP
SENATE INTO LINE
ON FARM RELIEF

Sullivan Says Debuture
Is Facing Certain Defeat; Real Battle Will Come Over Tariff.

Washington, May 19.—The sixth week of congress opens with the legislative situation much clarified, certainly for the present. Whether it remains clarified or goes on normally depends on the senate and specifically on the senate's attitude toward the debate plan of farm relief.

The senate will do about its debuture plan will become clear early in the week. The signs are that the senate as a whole is in a less aggressive mood than a few weeks ago.

The parliamentary situation, as he made clear by a brief statement of the sequence of events.

The house passed a farm relief plan by a vote of 367 to 34. The house sent its bill to the senate. The senate changed the bill in a revolutionary respect by adding a debuture plan by a vote of 47 to 44. Then the senate sent the revolutionized bill back to the house and asked the house to agree.

The house conspicuously and forcibly did not agree. On the contrary, it first expressed its opinion that the senate's action was unconstitutional. The house then said, in effect, that in the interest of hurrying farm relief, it would waive the trespass of its constitutional prerogative by the senate. The house next voted to disagree with the senate's debuture amendment on merit. All these things the house did by a vote of more than two to one, 249 to 119.

GOES INTO CONFERENCE.
By this action, the two forms of farm relief, house version and senate version, go "into conference." This means that five senators meet with five members of the house in an effort to compromise. The compromise in this case will consist of a surrender by the senate conferees. A conference of this sort can and often does become a prolonged tug of war. That can hardly happen in the present case.

REVENUE INCREASE AND AN-
NEXTION AMONG MEAS-URES COMING UP FOR CON-SIDERATION TODAY.

Measures designed to increase the city's revenue approximately $3,000,000 annually; to increase the term of the mayor from two to four years with the privilege of succeeding himself as many times as the people of Atlanta elect him; to increase the term of aldermen from three to four years; and to increase the terms of councilmen from two to three years are among the important papers to come before city council as its regular semi-monthly meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Another paper which would annex all land lots 110, 103 and 57 and all the remaining portions of land lots 56 and 104 lying in the 17th district of Fulton county also will be up for consideration.

Every one of the important matters scheduled for consideration requires legislative sanction before finally becoming effective.

Installation of two new whitewash streets from Spring and Mitchell streets to Trinity and thence over Peachtree road to a point between the Seaboard railway and Blackman's sanitarium. The line then would run about the northern extremity of land lots 110, 103 and 57, extending southward to the present city limit line.

On the east it would extend nearly to Piedmont road and on the west to a line parallel to Anjaco road. It would include all the Ansley park golf course, the Collier estate in laneret 102, Brookwood Hills and Rock Springs.

Georgia Girl To Be Picked
COLLEGES TO SEND PICTURES TO THE CONSTITUTION
For Rhododendron Festival

For the second time in as many years some Georgia flower is going to be temporarily transplanted to Ashevilles next month to blossom forth as this state's sponsor in the City of the Sky's annual Rhododendron Festival, which is scheduled for June 17 to June 22.

The Constitution has been designated by the Asheville Chamber of Commerce to select the Georgia representative. The Asheville authorities have decided that the honor this year shall go to a college girl as they know full well that nowhere can there be found greater beauty than in the south's universities and colleges.

Officials of every girls' school and college and every co-educational school in the state have therefore been asked by The Constitution to name an entrant for their school in this state-wide contest. From the group selected by these college officials, who are to forward the photograph of their representatives to The Constitution judges, to be announced by this newspaper at a later date, will select the young woman who is to represent Georgia.

Last year Miss Frances Phillips, beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Phillips, of Louisville, Ga., was chosen. Miss Phillips was entertained royally at the Asheville festival and was the center of a round of parties given for her and representatives of the other southern states by the Asheville Junior League.

This contest is in no sense a bathing beauty competition. Georgia's sponsor will be chosen after her beauty, personality, poise and other attributes have been carefully considered. Officials of the Asheville Chamber of Commerce are sure that it is thoroughly understood that this contest will not be decided solely on the beauty of those entered, but that the charm and refinement of the contestants will be equally considered.

The winner of this year's competition, as was Miss Phillips, will again be entertained by the Asheville Junior League and the Asheville Chamber of Commerce, will ride the Georgia float in the festival parade and otherwise represent this state in all of the festival attractions.

New York Stadium Turn-

New York, May 19.—(United News.)—Two persons were trampled to death and about 75 others were injured this afternoon when a large crowd of bleacherites at the Yankee stadium stampeded in a sudden downpour of rain.

The stampede occurred during the fifth inning of the first game of a scheduled double-header between the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox, a Sunday throng of 50,000 fans was in the stadium at the time.

The game had started with a bright sun shining on the field. The great crowd of Yankee supporters, turning out for what promised to be a perfect day for baseball, cheered the home team through the early innings as it piled up a three-run lead over the visitors.

The high spirits of the fans rose to the peak when, in the third inning, Babe Ruth sent his seventh home run of the season crashing into the right field bleachers.

Hardly had the crowd stopped scrambling for the ball, however, when the sky suddenly was overcast by a heavy bank of dark storm clouds. A few drops of rain fell and the 10,000 bleacherites in right field looked apprehensively upward.

Then, before any had been given time to leave the stands, a peal of thunder reverberated over the stadium and the rain descended in a fierce downpour.

Thousands of men, women and children in the right field bleachers made a mad rush for the exits leading under the stands.

The screams and shouts of persons knocked down in the rush seemed only to heighten the panic. With the rain beating furiously down, the stampeding fans tried to disperse everything in their path. The stairs at the foot of mount of the entrance, the crowd drew his revolver and the crushing throng, this act being the cause of the stampede.

The rain continued to fall in an unrelenting downpour. The stands were a mass of confusion. The fans who remained in the stands, the police tried to get them out. When they had the bodies of 80 dead, the police tried to get them out. When they had the bodies of 80 dead, the police tried to get them out.

The two killed were Joseph Carter, 50, a chauffeur, and Miss Ellen Price, 17, Hunter College student. Carter was dead when he was picked up, but the woman lived until she was taken to a dressing room beneath the stands of the stadium, where physicians applied emergency treatment, but could not make her respond.

Dr. A. A. Woods, trainer of the Yankee club, and Dr. John Fitch Landon, the club physician, were first to go to the aid of the injured and to apply first-aid treatment until they could be removed to hospitals.

The stampede was the first major disaster in the history of the stadium.

Presbyterian Unification To Be Discussed Today At Montreat Assembly

Reformed Synod Sends Representative to General Assembly Meeting
After Refusing Several Years.

Montreat, N. C., May 19.—(AP)—The question of union with the Associate Reformed Synod of the South is expected to be taken up tomorrow by the 69th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States.

A telegram received today by Dr. S. L. Morris, chairman of the committee on closer relations with Presbyterian bodies, notified him the reformed synod had repudiated a committee on union and that a representative would be here tomorrow. Several years ago when the church overtured the United Presbyterian church for consideration of union, it also overtured the Associate reformed Synod, but no answer was received. The message today was the first official indication that the latter body would consider union.

The question of union with the United church was brought up in the assembly yesterday, but was carried over until tomorrow afternoon for further debate.

Religious services morning, afternoon and night occupied the attention today of the more than 300 commissioners attending the assembly.

Dr. William R. Dobyns, of Birmingham, Ala., moderator, delivered the morning sermon with personal evangelism as his theme. In the afternoon a popular meeting in the interest of the country church followed an address by Dr. S. W. Zwerner on the near east. Dr. Zwerner is a missionary of the Arabian mission of the Reformed church in America.

and only recently returned from his field.

Dr. Zwerner urged the Presbyterians to adhere to a resolution recently adopted by the World Presbyterian Alliance asking all churches to strengthen their present work among the Moslems and to join in any advance movement, especially along union lines.

Dr. J. Sproule Lyons, of Atlanta, speaking tonight in the interest of stewardship, took as his theme "Christianity At Its Best."

"Stewardship," Dr. Lyons declared, "is the love of Christ conquering selfishness."

"Christianity is at its best," he asserted, "when it is true to its type; when it undertakes to live Christ's program; when it is embodied in the Christ church; when it masters the oldest, deepest, strongest, most respectable and most deadly sin in the human heart—covetousness. When Christianity conquers the American dollar," he declared, "all other issues will become secondary."

Dr. Dobyns, with "I Am Made All Things to All Men That I Might by All Means Save Some" as his text, urged that it was the duty of every Christian to spread Christianity by words and deeds. He said every believer was responsible for preaching the word of God to every creature and that this was not only incumbent on each, but also possible of doing.

It was announced today that Dr. Daniel Poling, pastor of Marble Collegiate church, N. Y., president of the International Christian Endeavor and editor of the Christian Herald, will address the assembly Tuesday.

The first sessions of the assembly which convened Thursday, were mainly taken up with receipt of reports of committees and trustees, these being referred to standing committees for discussion later.

The report of the ad interim committee on divorce, which recommended a restoration on the position of the church on the question to make the only recognized ground for divorce violation of the Seventh Commandment, was referred to a special committee.

The assembly was opened with the sermon of Dr. Harris E. Kirk, of Baltimore, reading moderator. Dr. Dobyns was elected moderator by unanimous vote. The assembly will adjourn either late Wednesday or Thursday.

Several prominent civic leaders are on the program for the regular monthly meeting of the West End Business Men's Association tonight at the Lee Street school auditorium. C. H. Lively, former mayor of East Point and general chairman of the committee in charge of the Robert E. Lee memorial boulevard project, will discuss various phases of that enterprise, while the proposed bond issue and a proposition to set up a sewage district for the Atlanta area will be discussed by other speakers.

Hewitt Chambers, president of the club, has extended invitation to all business men of the neighboring trade centers, including Capitol View, Sylvan Hills, Oakland City, Cascade and West View, as well as interested residents of the communities. The meeting will be of the get-together variety at which it is hoped to launch several section-wide projects. Plans will also be made for the annual picnic and dance.

Businessmen at the Gordon-Lee street center will confer on the traffic situation with ward representatives and are expected to request a non-parking zone at this center and a limited time on parking in adjacent territory. WESLEY NURSES' HOME
DEDICATED WEDNESDAY

Building Is Memorial to the Late Mrs. Florence Candler Harris.

The Florence Candler Harris Memorial, the new home for nurses of Wesley Memorial hospital, on Emory university campus, will be dedicated Wednesday evening, May 22, at exercises to be held in the main reception room at 8 o'clock. Bishop W. B. Beauchamp, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will make the main address.

Charles Howard Candler, chairman of the building committee, will preside over the program which includes an address, "Mrs. Florence Candler Harris, an Appreciation," by Mrs. Plato Durham; the dedication by Bishop Beauchamp and music by members of the Emory University Glee Club.

The furniture has been ordered and the building will be completed by Wednesday at a cost of approximately $180,000. The memorial was constructed by the Griffin Construction Company, of Atlanta.

The idea of the nurses' home was conceived by Samuel L. Willard, of the class of '93, who lives in Baltimore, Md. Nine of Mrs. Harris' nephews and nieces contributed to the fund for its construction. Mrs. Harris was the widow of James W. Harris, of Cartersville, and a sister-in-law of Asa G. Candler, Sr., who was largely responsible for the building of Wesley Memorial hospital. During her last 20 years Mrs. Harris lived in Atlanta and was instrumental in organizing the Woman's Auxiliary of Wesley Memorial hospital.

By opening the Florence Candler Harris Memorial home for nurses, three floors of Wesley Memorial hospital will be released, increasing the capacity from 160 to a total of 250 beds.

Provisions are made for 137 student and graduate nurses. The structure is designed by Hentz, Alder and Shutz, who constructed Wesley Memorial hospital. Mr. Hentz, the senior member and a graduate of the class of 1904, had the co-operation of Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory; Dr. R. H. Hear Dr. Beauchamp
In Baccalaureate

"Your greatest contribution to the world will not be by what you know, nor what you say, but by what you live," the graduating class of Gammom Theological seminary was told Sunday afternoon by Bishop W. B. Beauchamp in the annual baccalaureate sermon of that institution.

Presiding at the exercises, which took place in Croghan chapel, was Bishop Wilbur D. Thirkield, former president of the seminary, who introduced the speaker in most appreciative terms. Dr. D. D. Martin read a scripture lesson and Dr. R. N. Brooks led in prayer. Several fine musical selections were rendered by the Clark-Gammom orchestra and chorus, under the direction of Professor Frederick Hall.

The graduating class and the alumni hold three meetings today at 10, 2:30 and 7:30. Tuesday morning and afternoon will be devoted to the formal inauguration of the new president, Dr. Franklin H. Clapp, and Wednesday morning will be observed as commencement day proper. The public is invited to be present on these several occasions.

CADILLAC LA SALLE REVELATION WEEK MAY 20th-27th

A Period of Practical Proof (for women in particular) of Handling Ease and Safety Features found in no other cars which alone almost compel the choice of Cadillac-La Salle

The great name of Cadillac and the companion name La Salle are in themselves insurance to the buyer that there is nothing beyond, or better, or even equal, in all motoring.

Check This 1st Revelation Week Fact—No Gear-Shift Annoyance

To this all around assured perfection of performance (which everyone admits) are added, now, certain definite inducements and vital advantages which obviously appeal to all careful motorists but with particular force and emphasis to women owners.

In and of themselves, they almost compel the choice of Cadillac-La Salle because they are exclusive to these two cars and because they provide elements of ease and security with which no motorist—and no woman in particular—would willingly dispense.

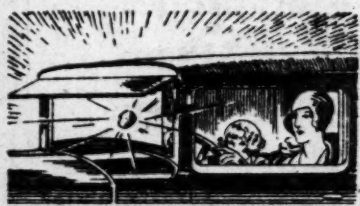

It is plainly apparent that one of the most valuable factors in motoring today, for whose easeful gear shifting no substitute can be found, is the exclusive Cadillac-La Salle Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission covered by basic patents.

Syncro-Mesh was introduced by Cadillac-La Salle with the restraint which has always characterized their public announcements. The excitement and enthusiasm it has created has been a result of the growth in public consciousness that here was something in transmissions which literally transformed that particular phase of motor car performance.

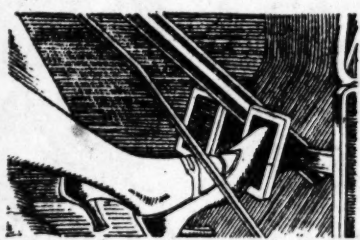

The emphasis that is being placed upon it in this Revelation Week (for women in particular) is the result of this public acclaim and the realization of Cadillac-La Salle that they had builded even better than they knew.

Revelation Week will endeavor to demonstrate to all women what thousands of women already know—that this is a new element of extraordinary ease in shifting and handling of which they cannot afford to deprive themselves.

Owners have also brought home to Cadillac the realization that the exclusive Cadillac-La Salle Duplex-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes covered by basic patents are a revolutionary contribution, both from the standpoint of easy mastery and greater safety; and public acclaim, therefore, makes these new brakes a second item of good news for Revelation Week.

Exactly the same thing has happened with regard to Cadillac-La Salle Crystal-Clear Non-Shatterable Security-Plate Glass—what amounts to an actual reproach from the public for our seeming failure to lay stress on a feature which owners consider absolutely vital. All Cadillac-La Salle windows, doors and windshields are equipped with this vastly important safety feature.

Cadillac-La Salle came to Non-Shattering Glass through conscientious conviction and that conviction has been given tremendous impetus by public approval.

A mere witnessing of the demonstrations which will be given during Revelation Week will convince everyone that here is an additional security feature of such paramount importance that it simply cannot be brushed aside.

These three vital mechanical-physical factors, offered only by Cadillac and La Salle, will be revelations to you indeed. They will be supported, of course, by what you already know of the matchless steadiness of the Cadillac-La Salle 90-degree, V-type engine. And they will be especially emphasized by a closer study than you have ever been able to give before, perhaps, to the almost startling difference in the body environment of Cadillac-La Salle.

Here is the opportunity to settle down to a close, actual comparative inspection of Fisher Body and Fleetwood interiors in Cadillac-La Salle. Here is coach work actually created for Cadillac-La Salle—in which designs, whether they come from silver-smith or fabricator, are original Cadillac-La Salle designs.

Here is upholstery, cushion work, wood-work, paneling, designed exclusively by Fleetwood and Fisher Body for Cadillac-La Salle—producing an ensemble in comparison with which ordinary coach work is almost distressingly inadequate.

Revelation Week will open your eyes both to higher efficiency and greater artistry—efficiency and artistry which immediately spell greater value obtainable only in Cadillac and La Salle.

Sunday School Breaks Up

PRESIDENT, SEEKING CHURCH, GREET KIDDIES

As Herbert Hoover Attends

Washington, May 18.—(United News.)—President Hoover returned to the White House and his arduous duties late today after more than 24 hours of complete change from presidential routine—even church-going.

Although he had been expected to return from his retreat in the Virginia hills this morning in time to attend Quaker services, the president did not arrive at the executive mansion until 5:30 p. m.

He made a conscientious effort to attend church, however.

Leaving his camp in the Shenandoah National Park immediately after breakfast, Mr. Hoover and his party motored to Sperryville, Va., a small city on the northern slope of the Blue Ridge mountains, bent upon attending divine services there instead of Washington.

Signs of activity at the Reynolds Memorial Baptist church led members of his party to believe the president's quest need take them no farther. So the White House automobiles were parked and several men in business clothes filed into the church—one of them the president of the United States.

Once inside, they discovered that it was Sunday school, not church services, that accounted for the automobiles parked outside. Circles of children, grouped according to age, were gathered around teachers in various parts of the room.

But the president refused to leave. He and members of his party sat down to await developments.

Almost immediately his identity was discovered by a bright-eyed youngster and the Sunday school was demoralized. The golden rule for the day and the Biblical interpretations failed to hold their youthful audiences.

Kids Rush to President.

The teachers put their heads together and decided upon a course of action. A choir was hastily collected and the superintendent led in a fourth rendition of "My Country 'Tis of Thee." The president went through the motions of joining in the singing, although singing is not among his accomplishments.

The superintendent then led in a brief prayer and Sunday school was declared at an end.

Children bore down upon the president from every corner and some who had apparently not before been in the church. The news of the president's arrival spread rapidly.

The president talked with them for several minutes, shook hands with those bold enough to advance that close and then resumed his motor trip.

Finds Work at Home.

Mr. Hoover left the White House at 10:30 a. m. yesterday and spent the night at his modest camp on the Rapidan river, sleeping in one of the five army tents recently erected for his accommodation.

He did no fishing, but spent most of his time tramping through woods. The weather was excellent until the afternoon when the president's party started home through a heavy rain.

On the way back to the capital, the car in which the president was riding became mired in the heavy mud, caused by the rains, near Aldie, Va. The road is under construction, and a pair of mules used by working teams extricated the presidential car.

It was this adventure which delayed the president's return to the capital.

Business met him at the White House threshold. Representative Garner, of Texas, democratic leader of the house, and Secretary of Treasury Mellon, republican, met him.

He and he joined them immediately at a conference to discuss tariff rates.

Those who accompanied the president on his week-end trip were Lawrence Richey, one of his secretaries; Lieutenant-Commander Joel Boone, his physician; Secretary of Interior Wilbur and Edward Lowry, a magazine writer.

Further from the Morrow home today, stopping all automobiles and pedestrians a half-mile from the house near the caretakers' cottage and garage. They refused to relay any messages.

Bar Reporters.

With access to a close view of the Morrow house cut off by the moving of the guards, no one could learn just how the soon-to-be-wed couple spent the day. Presumably they remained indoors as a cold rain fell all day and the woods about the house are thick and could not be walked through with great enjoyment in wet weather.

None of the Morrow family attended church although villagers said the family seldom missed a Sunday morning service when they were on the island.

The housing and eating problem for reporters and photographers became more acute today. Selectman Crockett, who also is proprietor of the village inn, notified those that had stayed at the hotel that they must find other accommodations tomorrow. Most of the available rooms in private houses were snapped up quickly while a village made ready to open a sandwich shop to supply sustenance to the score of newspaper reporters.

HOOVER ASKS SOLONS' VIEW ON REPARATIONS

Washington, May 19.—(AP)—President Hoover late today conferred with leaders of both houses of congress to obtain their views with regard to an expected report from the experts committee on reparations which has been meeting in Paris.

The meeting was attended by Secretary Stimson, who issued a statement tonight telling the purpose of the meeting.

"The meeting at the White House this afternoon was called by the president," the secretary's statement said, "for the purpose of acquainting the leaders of the two houses of congress and the appropriate committees thereof with the purpose of the experts committee on reparations which has been meeting in Paris."

"That committee is now apparently approaching the end of its labors and it is possible that a report may soon be made which may require action by the executive."

"This meeting was for the purpose of ascertaining the views of congress upon matters which may be the subject of such a report, in order that if the president is required to take action he may have the benefit of those views."

MACHADO'S NEW TERM

AS CUBAN HEAD BEGINS

President Ends Four Years of Service; Nation in Fiesta Mood.

Havana, May 19.—(AP)—Four years of national executive service will end Monday for General Gerardo Machado y Morales and six years of service as president of Cuba will start for the farmer-statesman who, through coalition of the three major political parties, six months ago was acclaimed president in an unopposed election.

For the past week this city has been in holiday spirit and attire as envoys extraordinary and ambassadors of 37 nations arrived for the inauguration, which will be held at the new $16,000,000 capitol building, Monday.

Government business has come to a standstill. While officials have turned their attention to extending courtesies to visiting envoys, the president has devoted his entire time to visiting diplomats.

Havana is in holiday dress. Principal streets are flag-bedecked, buildings are draped in the national colors of Cuba festooned in gaily colored lights. The celebration will be the most colorful the island has ever had with an appropriation of $50,000 to cover expenses of the official four-day program.

Country Celebrates.

The festivities open at 6 o'clock Monday morning with the blowing of reveille at Morro castle. The inauguration of President Machado will be at noon in the "Salon de Pasos Perdidos" (Hall of Lost Steps), which will be attended by visiting envoys.

BRITISH OFFICIALS

GUARDED AGAINST CALCUTTA NATIVES

London, May 19.—(United News.)—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Calcutta, India, reported tonight that stringent precautions had been taken to guard high British officials because of "serious developments" among the natives.

The dispatch said reports filtering in from the hills showed that the Indian government was facing difficulties, the nature of which have not been explained.

There were rumors current of secret movements of troops and military personnel and material throughout northern India, the correspondent said.

The Daily Mail dispatch said heavy guards had been placed around public buildings and that Lord Irwin, the viceroy, and various provincial governors and high civil and military officers were protected by guards.

Shortly before 9 o'clock he dropped a note in which he said "everything is working absolutely perfectly." He had been aloft at that time nearly nine hours.

The plane, piloted by Reg. L. Robbins, with Jim Kelly as co-pilot, carries a single motor, whereas the Question Mark was tri-motored. The take-off was made at Meacham field.

The endurance plane, christened Fort Worth, was entirely rebuilt for the record attempt. Refueling is planned to be made once daily. The ship took off with 250 gallons of gasoline and will take on 100 gallons every 24 hours of the flight.

The simple mixture of glycerin, buckthorn bark, etc. (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLING action. It acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that poisoned the system for months. It clears GAS and sourness from the stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis and rheumatism.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

ports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

United States Financiers May Back German Effort To Renew Russian Trade

Soviet State Will Borrow
From Germany Sums
Loaned by U. S.; May Aid Reparations.

BY FREDERICK KUH.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Berlin, May 19.—(United News.)—The United States will finance a big revival of trade between Russia and Germany if a credit scheme now being negotiated between Berlin and Moscow officials materializes.

The proposed agreement envisages extension of approximately $119,000,000 in German credits to the Soviet Union, and it is anticipated the negotiations will be concluded by the end of June.

The plan foresees financing of a German commercial offensive in Russian markets through the assistance of Wall Street. The United News is in a position to reveal authoritatively the details of the project, which official sources here believe to be assured of the support of S. Parker Gilbert, American agent-general for reparations, as well as United States officials.

It was pointed out that German war reparations payments depend primarily on the Russian ability to increase exports. Therefore, German success in recovering Russian markets conforms to the interest of the former allied countries in receiving reparations, according to assertions here.

On the other hand, it was pointed out that German credits in Russia signify a move against the growing export of goods from the Soviet Union.

pansion of the United States commercial activity in Soviet territory.

The German credit offer actually represents a counter-proposal to a Soviet scheme communicated to the German government in which the Soviet asked German credits of $119,000,000 for ten years; part to be obtained from a loan on the German public market and part to form German industrial credits.

The new German offer, it includes:

1. Extension of $119,000,000 credits to Russia for purchase of industrial products in Germany.
2. Credits repayable in five years.
3. German government would guarantee German industries repayment of credits to 60 per cent and the Soviet would guarantee to 25 per cent. German manufacturers would guarantee the remaining 15 per cent, covered by Russian notes to the industries.
4. Germany would secure $100,000,000 credits, mostly from the United States and Holland, to finance the transaction.

Conclusion of the agreement, it was understood, may be expected in June, when the German foreign office representative, Consul-General Schloesinger, returns from Moscow. Russia is aware that the demand for a public loan floated in Germany is impracticable and has abandoned this request.

The final agreement, according to reliable sources, probably will be a compromise of the Soviet proposals and the German counter-proposals. It was believed this probably would provide $119,000,000 German industrial credits in Russia for a seven or eight-year period, with 70 per cent by the Soviet and the remainder by German industry.

The entire project, under such plans, would be based on German negotiation for $100,000,000 credit in the United States and Holland.

HEALTH COMMITTEE TO PRESENT REPORT

Will Urge Revision of Laws and Betterment of Sanitary Conditions.

Recommendation for revision of health laws and improvement of sanitary conditions in Georgia will be ready for presentation to Governor L. G. Hardman by his special health commission today.

Dr. T. F. Abernethy, state health commissioner, and chairman of the special commission, announced that recommendations of sub-committees were being consolidated and adjusted, and would be presented to the governor today. In his charge to the commission Governor Hardman urged its members to determine whether the state's health laws needed revision, and whether health conditions throughout the state could be improved under the present laws. Malaria prevention was expected to be one of the prime subjects considered.

STORM, FLOODS SPREAD DISTRESS IN TEXAS

Dallas, Texas, May 19.—(AP)—The swollen Red river cast a flood menace over extreme northeastern Texas and southwestern Arkansas today, while other widespread sections of Texas rested from a week-end beating of wind and rainstorms that took two lives, injured 10 persons and caused great material loss.

More than 1,000 acres in the lowlands about Index, Ark., were covered with water and residents feared that the first rise in the river might pile up with another to come in and below the Index area with a resultant disaster like that of 1927. Additionally, the levee on the north side of the river was watched apprehensively. It was completed only a few months ago and the probability that it had not "set" solidly was seen.

While northwest Texas, in the Wichita Falls vicinity, was the hardest hit by the storms, the two fatalities occurred far to the south. At Bryan, Frank Trentacost, a merchant, was killed by lightning as he watched a storm's work. Walter R. Carters, farm hand, was struck down in the same manner near Adrian.

Westfield, in south Texas, near Houston, was swept by a minor tornado that injured four persons. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Farros, a Mrs. Benedict and Mrs. Benedict's daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervil Wilkerson, on their honeymoon trip near Vernon, were hurt by a twister that tore their house from its foundation and hurled them about 300 feet.

In northwest Texas, William Ganders, Mrs. C. H. McDaniel, William Miller and Agnes Howard, 15, a school child, were injured by the high wind that lashed eight communities.

The storms extended as far west as McCamey, where property damage was caused.

PERMIT ISSUED FOR SAVANNAH RADIO STATION

Savannah, Ga., May 19.—(AP)—Word was received from the federal radio commission at Washington that the construction permit for the Savannah Chamber of Commerce radio station has been granted and forwarded here.

The message also stated that the call letters "WSGP" have been assigned to the Savannah station as requested in the application, these initials being for "Wonderful Savannah, Georgia's Port."

Announcement will be made probably tomorrow of the location of the station in the city and the location of the transmission station a few miles outside, together with announcement relative to financing the construction. The station is to operate on a wavelength of 212.4 meters with a frequency of 1,410 kilocycles, the expectation being that Savannah will be on the air in 90 days. Other stations on the same wavelength are as follows:

KGRS and WDAG, Amarillo, Texas; KFLY, Rockford, Ill.; WHBI, Chesapeake, Mich.; and WBCM, Bay City, Mich.

PORTES GIL BUYS VALUABLE PICTURE FOR LINDY'S GIFT

Merico City, May 19.—(AP)—A valuable masterpiece, "Mexican Flowers," painted by Ramos Martinez, director of the Mexican school of arts, has been purchased by President and Mrs. Emilio Portes Gil as a wedding present. It is understood, for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Anne Morrow.

It took Martinez 15 years to paint the picture which represents four women denoting four principal types of Mexican womanhood—Spanish, Indian, Mestiza or a mixture of Indian and Spanish and the modern type of Mexican girl. The women appear in garden resplendent with native flowers. The purchase price was not announced.

VICTIMS OF HOSPITAL BLAST WILL RECOVER

Survivors Show Improvement; World-Famous Doctors Buried Saturday.

Cleveland, May 19.—(AP)—Recovery of most of the victims still receiving treatment of poison gas they breathed in the Cleveland Clinic catastrophe five days ago was looked for by physicians tonight.

Only five persons were regarded in a critical condition today and recovery of at least three of them was predicted. Three of the five still in a precarious condition are clinic physicians and another is a girl employed at the clinic. Some 40 others, however, still were receiving treatment at hospitals.

Two additional deaths occurred last night.

Burial of the dead in Cleveland and other cities from where the victims had come Wednesday for relief from their ills was continued today.

Thirty-six of the dead were buried in Cleveland yesterday. Notable among the dead buried yesterday were Dr. Charles Locke, Cleveland brain specialist; J. Barker Smith, secretary-manager of the Cleveland Athletic Club; Dr. Paul F. Barello, world-known eye specialist of Italy, and Dr. John Phillips, one of the founders of the clinic, who is said to have had the largest consulting practice in the world.

To Pass X-ray Laws.

Meanwhile investigators were endeavoring to piece together from inspection and testimony the circumstances under which the X-ray films stored in the basement exploded, causing poison gas to spread over the clinic building.

Among the investigators was Major General H. L. Gilchrist, of Washington, chief of the United States war department chemical warfare service, who has offered his staff and laboratory at Washington to reconstruct gases of the same chemical composition as those that permeated the clinic and study their explosive and poisonous properties.

It is vital that this information be obtained, Coroner A. J. Pearce, of Cuyahoga county, who is leading the investigators, said, "because millions of dollars all over the country are invested in X-ray films, and other millions would be hazardous, to say nothing of the loss of life, if the correct solution were not found."

Another outcome will be state and local legislation regulating storage of X-ray films, it was stated.

LAST RITES HELD FOR FORMER WAYCROSS WOMAN

Smith, of San Francisco, also one daughter, Mrs. D. W. West, of West Palm Beach, and one brother, O. F. Patterson, of Savannah. She also is survived by 11 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

The pastime of originating and circulating falsehoods about motor industry must go

A Plain Statement by Richard H. Scott

President Reo Motor Car Company

"IN its issue of Wednesday, May 15, the Automotive Daily News in a story appearing under a Lansing date-line stated that the Reo Motor Car Company would shortly produce a straight-eight automobile; that the car was already in production in the Reo plant; and that public announcement was expected within a few weeks.

"The story is utterly false and without foundation.

"But since no ordinary denial would be able to prevent the widespread repetition of the fabrication; since the publication of such a story is bound to affect adversely the sale of our six-cylinder automobiles—which we have been building for years and which we have not the slightest intention of discontinuing; and since it seems to us to be about time that the pastime of originating and circulating falsehoods about respected members of the automobile industry should be effectually jolted; it has seemed to us that the only adequate means by which we can protect our rights and the rights of other members of the industry who are constantly being sniped at by unverified, untrue and destructive rumors is by resort to the courts.

"The stockholders of the Reo Motor Car Company have a property worth more than $30,000,000 in net assets. The distributors and dealers of the Reo Motor Car Company have at least $30,000,000 more invested in the business of merchandising Reo Cars and Speed Wagons. We feel that we owe not only to those stockholders but to those distributors and dealers an obligation to protect them to the fullest extent possible against such an inexcusably reckless and unwarranted attack upon their property rights.

"We are utterly at a loss to understand how or where such a story as the one in question could have originated; and still more are we utterly unable to comprehend how a responsible publication could permit so potentially dangerous a story to find its way into its columns without having made an exhaustive effort to check its accuracy.

"And yet, so far was this from the fact that even the Detroit representative of the publication knew nothing whatever of the story in advance of its publication; on the contrary he was unwilling to believe that such a story had been printed until he had called the New York office of the paper and assured himself that it had indeed been published.

"To be sure, the Reo Motor Car Company—in common, we suppose, with all other automobile manufacturers—is experimenting with eight-cylinder motors. We have been for more than ten years. We have been experimenting with V-type eights, with straight-eights—and even with a nine-cylinder motor.

"But right now, we don't know that we shall ever build an eight-cylinder automobile. If we do, it will be only after we are convinced that the most serious of the engineering difficulties that now seem to attend the designing and building of an entirely satisfactory eight-cylinder motor have been surmounted.

"If we ever do decide to build an eight-cylinder automobile, not only is such an automobile not 'in production', as stated in the Automotive Daily News, but it has not even been designed! Whether such a car ever will be designed is for the future to determine. Certainly we do not know. Which means that if we were to decide today to build an 'eight', it would be a matter of many months—perhaps even years—before the work of designing and experimenting and testing could be completed; the plant could be re-tooled; and production be gotten under way.

"It is obvious, in view of the facts, how ridiculously false the story is. And we propose to prove the falsity of the story, once and for all, in the trial of the libel suit.

"And finally not only I but our entire engineering staff have yet to see the eight-cylinder motor for which we would trade the six-cylinder motor with which our Master Flying Cloud is powered. That motor is smoother, better balanced, more satisfactory in performance than any of the eight-cylinder motors that have yet come under our observation—either those of competitive cars or those experimental motors that have been designed and built in our own engineering department. We have been experimenting with and testing eight-cylinder cars of various makes—including at least one that sells for hundreds of dollars more than the highest-priced Reo we build; but for my own use I have not seen one of them that I would willingly accept as a substitute for our own six-cylinder motor.

"And you may be sure that if and when we do decide to build an eight-cylinder car, it will be when we are convinced that we are thereby going to be able to give the public a better automobile than we are now building.

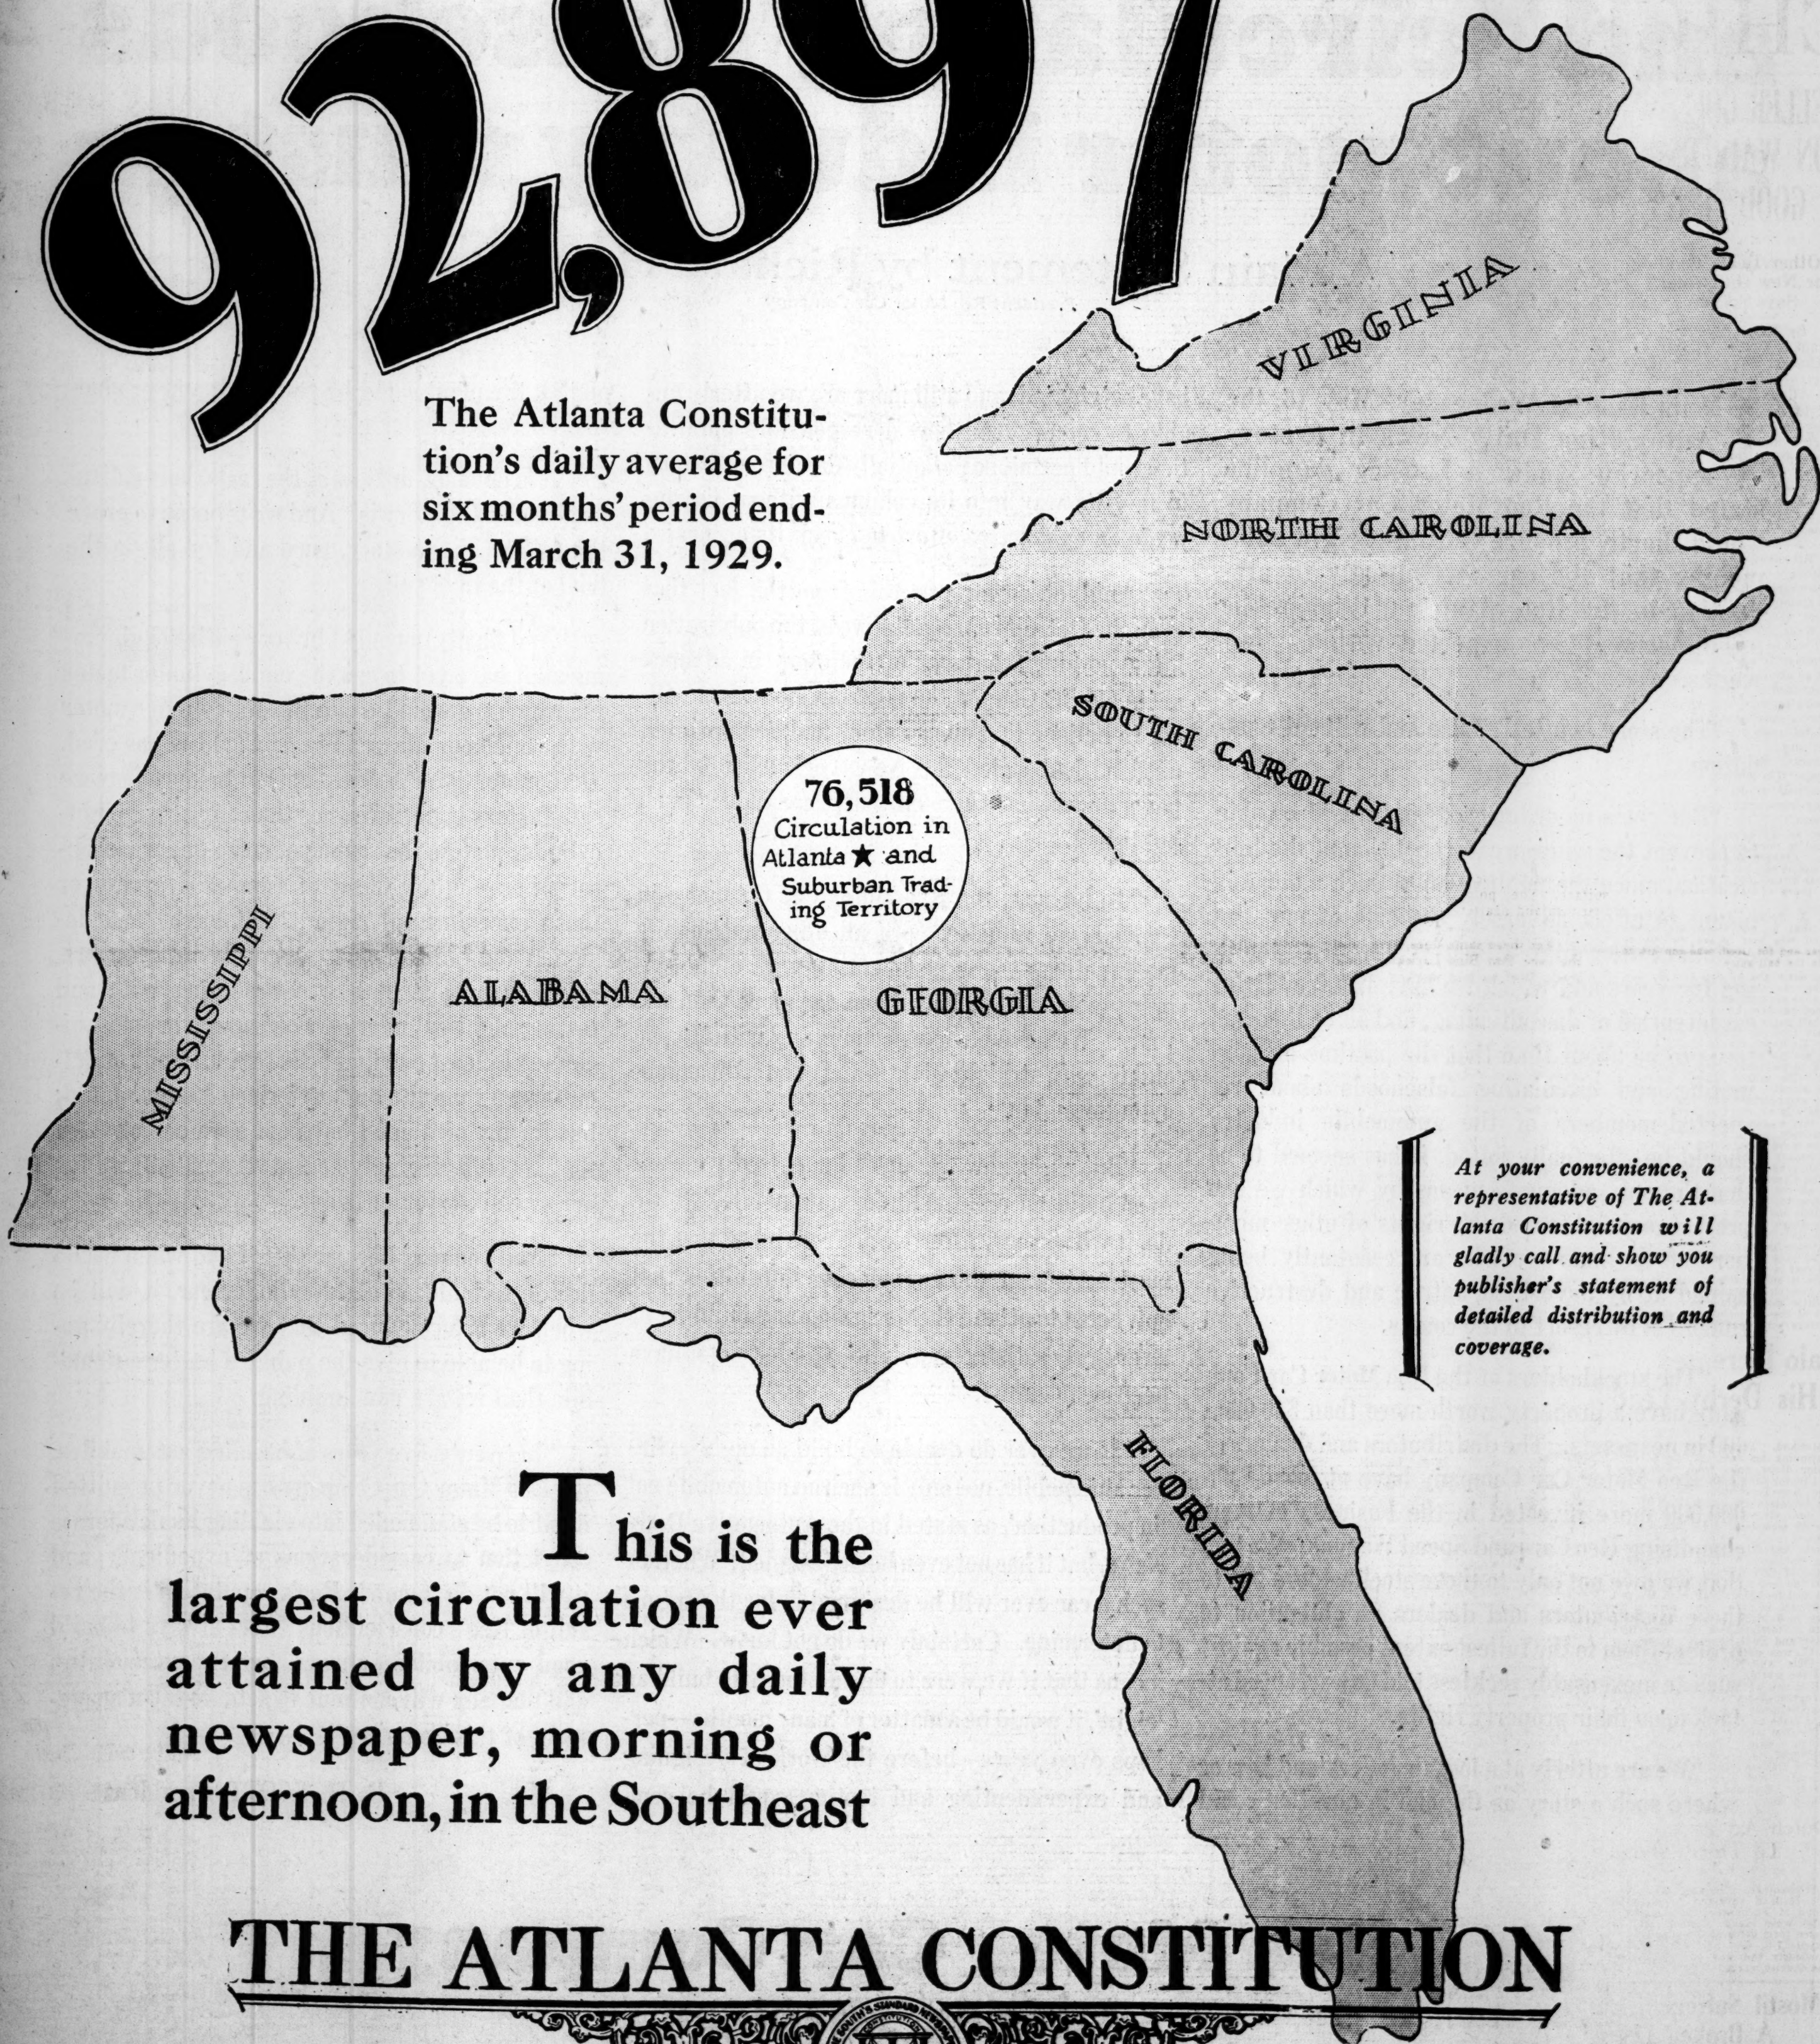

"In twenty-five years of building automobiles, the Reo Motor Car Company has never permitted itself to be stampeded into yielding its deliberate conviction to considerations of expediency; and it will not do so now. Reo's reputation is the result of Reo's conscientious effort always to build good automobiles—always better automobiles; and that aim will continue to actuate the management of this Company."

Crackers Ask Waivers on Zoeller and Good Goes in Lineup

CHICKASAWS WIN SERIES OPENER, 4-2

ZOELLER GOES ON WAIVERS; GOOD PLAYS

No Other Deals Pending for New Outfielder, Says Spiller.

By Ralph McGill.
Frankie Zoeller was cut off the Cracker ball club Sunday, waivers being asked on him, and Wilbur Good, manager, went to the outfield in a surprising but not altogether unexpected move on the part of the Atlanta baseball club.

Zoeller, who has been with the Cracker ball club for five years, injured his ankle in the training season. He was kept on the squad and returned to the game last Monday when the club returned from a road trip. His ankle was not in shape and his hitting was all gone.

Zoeller's play during the week was a disappointment to the Cracker management who had hoped to go along with Wade, Cullop and Zoeller. Asking of waivers comes as somewhat of a surprise. It was thought that they might go along until some new player was obtained in a deal.

Good's entrance into the game was also not a complete surprise. He had hit some time ago that he might play.

"Shucks," said Wilbur Good a few days ago, "I'm thinking about playing the outfield again. I know I can't be any worse than some of the men I've seen."

And so the solemn old gentleman stepped in there on the Sabbath afternoon. Frankie Zoeller, in the past 37 times at bat, has got but three hits. He was hitting .081. Wilbur Good, in four times at bat Sunday, got two hits.

R. J. Spiller, Cracker president, said that he and Good had agreed that it was best to ask waivers on Zoeller and for Good, who can hit, to get in the ball game.

No deals are on for another outfielder, the Cracker president said, and none are contemplated at present. Good has been knocking around the baseball parks for quite a while. He suffers from no ill-effects about himself. He knows that he doesn't throw well, but can hit. As a matter of fact, Good throws fairly well from right field. He shifted himself to right field Sunday, sending Wade to left. That arrangement will work as well defensively as any the Crackers have had this season and will be stronger offensively.

The move was carried out with no preliminary announcement at all. Cullop and Good got two hits each in the Cracker defeat Sunday. The loss shaved the crack out of the first division for the second time this year. Little Rock, taking up in Birmingham where they left off a week ago, won their sixth straight game and went into fourth place.

The race in the Southern league this year is one of the closest in years. There is only a slim margin between the New Orleans and Nashville clubs. A little more tightening up on the part of the second division, Chicago and the race will begin to excite hysteria.

Salo Increases His Derby Lead

Midland, Texas, May 19.—(AP)—Continuing his rampage in the Pyle Junior derby, John Salo, Passaic, N. J., tied for first place with Sam Richmond, New York, today in the 15th lap and increased his newly acquired lead in total elapsed time to 21 minutes and 30 seconds. The stretch was 40 miles.

Salo and Richmond ran here from Big Spring in 5:00:03, 17 minutes ahead of Pete Gavuzzi, England, who held the lead until yesterday. Gavuzzi was tied for third today with Herbert Hedeman, 55, the oldest man in the race, in 5:20:05. Guido Umek, Italy, third in total elapsed time, was fifth today and Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C., was sixth. Guy Shields, Picher, Okla., and Mike Joyce, Cleveland, tied for seventh.

Richman by tying for first today, strengthened his hold on fourth place over Simpson and cut the time to third place by 30 minutes. The first four in total elapsed time: John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 3:30:45:07; Pete Gavuzzi, England, 3:31:06:37; Guido Umek, Italy, 3:47:54:26; Sam Richmond, New York, 3:51:18:23.

Dutch Advance To Third Round

Scheveningen, Holland, May 19.—(AP)—Holland advanced to the third round of European zone competition today when Hans Timmer, of the Dutch team defeated Grandguillot, of Egypt, 7-5, 6-0, 5-6, 6-2. Holland previously had won one singles and one doubles match.

Mostil Suffers A Broken Leg

Detroit, May 19.—(AP)—Johnny Mostil, Chicago White Sox center fielder, was carried off the field with a broken right ankle in the fourth inning of today's game with the Detroit Tigers. The Chicago fielder slid into the plate feet first and caught his right foot on the edge of the plate.

Louisville, May 19.—No serious political clouds threaten the existence of racing in general and the Derby in particular in Kentucky. But unless the grand old state does something about its weather its great spectacle soon will be the occasion for people in every section of the United States and insular possessions staying at home by thousands. These annual cloudbursts on the day of the turf classic, all this standing in eight inches of water by the rail, all this scrooging into a corner by a stairway like a country dog that followed the cotton wagon to town and got lost, will sap the life out of the Derby.

Those who think horse racing is wicked and have been working in vain for 50 years to crush the evil under heel may find their work done for them by the weather man.

NOBODY HAD A GOOD TIME.

Nobody much had a good time. Blue Larkspur, everybody's choice to win, ran gallantly but helplessly in the mud. Hats were wrecked, clothing ruined, pocketbooks mashed flat, corns stamped upon and pneumonia contracted. Nobody could find anybody. In fine the Derby was all wet. The few who saw the race at all saw nothing but a parade with a contest transformed into a mere chase with a little skate galloping along and a horde of others following. It has rained every year but one since Flying Ebony won in a thunderstorm in 1925. Many will see in that the hand of an aroused providence, no doubt.

Owing to the bad weather moving about in the vast mutuel sheds was impossible and consequently a final check and audit of the day's business may show a falling off from last year. That, too, will be hailed with delight in reform quarters.

TOO MUDDY FOR FAVORITE.

Admirers of Blue Larkspur, and in this group are included nearly all the alleged trackwise, are insisting today that the Bradley colt would have won handily on a fast track and that he can beat Clyde Van Dusen any day in the year on a hard surface. They point to Blue Larkspur floundering badly on the first turn and nearly going down in a heap as evidence that the colt detested the mud.

Yet these same ones were noisily proclaiming before the race that Blue Larkspur could win on any kind of track, that he had worked brilliantly in soft going and that the weather conditions would make no difference in his race. The Blue Larkspur fans, one of which I was whom, laid themselves wide open in pre-race talk; they got out on a limb and now should have nothing at all to say. All should have learned, however, that it never pays to denigrate a horse a good mudder until he actually has raced in the mud. Merer working out with none in front of him to pelt him is something else.

DEEP IN MUD.

After the downpour, as the fourth race was run, it became evident that the track, instead of merely slippery, would be fetlock deep in mud. There was a rush to get aboard the Van Dusen band wagon. Many laid off their Blue Larkspur investments but thousands were unable to protect themselves.

BORN "RIGHT."

Clyde Van Dusen comes by his mud running ability honestly. His sire, Man o' War, was at home on any track. His dam, Uncle's Lassie, was sired by Uncle, one of the greatest mud runners of all times. Uncle was the sire of Old Rosebud, the greatest gelding that ever won a Derby and called by many the greatest race horse of modern times. Old Rosebud, Uncle and Clyde Van Dusen all have that short, hopping gait that is so necessary to making knots in gumbo.

Those who follow the horses closely will watch closely for the next meeting of Blue Larkspur and Clyde Van Dusen. Each has won a heat this year and Clyde happened to win the one that counted most.

MUTUELS TAKE IN $1,785,440 ON DERBY DAY

Backers of Winners Rejoice as Trek Home-ward Is Begun.

Louisville, Ky., May 19.—(AP)—A mite of a jockey, with some $5,395 in his pocket and a happy grin on his face, was speeding east today while in a stall at Churchill Downs his sleek little chestnut mount, with which he won Kentucky's historic Derby yesterday, contentedly munched at his oats, the champion of America.

And in hundreds of thousands of homes today the Derby was being re-run and run again, while by road and air and water stragglers of the army of some 60,000 or 70,000 persons who saw Clyde Van Dusen win were wending their way homeward.

This year's picture of one of the world's greatest sporting events was a blurred and dampened one, drenched by rain and whipped by the wind, but it was no less glorious for all of that. Continuously for almost two hours the skies poured water on society matron and workman alike, as they stood shoulder to shoulder under common shelter waiting for the two and a fraction minutes of horse race that draws its crowd from the world over.

A GREAT VICTORY.

For all the rain and mud, it was a great victory for the Man o' War gelding and a zealous triumph for Linus "Pony" McAtee, his rider. The little married man from Maryland, father of children and as much of a thoroughbred as his horse, had never seen Clyde Van Dusen before he came here to ride him in her Derby.

When the race had been run and he admitted he was "kind of scared when I first saw Clyde" as the horse looked so small and then added, with a look of almost reverence in his eyes, "But oh, boy! how he can run!"

The team of McAtee and Van Dusen was far from the rail when Starter Hamilton sent the field away, but the gelding found his foot and broke with the leaders, never relinquishing his pace-setting post. Spattered with mud from the hoofs of the winners, Naishapur, the west's hope for the classic, came booting through the mud second and in third place was Panchito, owned by the "Three D's" stable of Texas.

But Clyde Van Dusen and "Pony" McAtee were not at all content to share in the winning of the classic. Herbert P. Gardner, of Amsterdam, N. Y., today was experiencing the thrill of coming once in a lifetime to the acclaim that goes to the owner of the winner. And, incidentally, Mr. Gardner was $53,500 richer due to the efforts of his speedy racer.

HEARTS BEAT LIGHT.

And even down in Lexington, Ky., hearts were beating light today at the home of Clyde Van Dusen, trainer of the equine champion. John Dishman and Mack Williams, veteran negro attendants of the horse which was born on the Van Dusen farm, didn't get to see the race but listened to every word over the radio and "kept on prayin' all the time." Today they were busy escorting visitors to see Uncle's Lassie, dam of the Derby winner, grazing in a pasture.

"Come here, honey," called John. "Let me tell you what your son did yesterday." And John is sure the venerable mare, herself a descendant of the Old Rosebud line, a Derby winner, understands how nobly Clyde acquitted himself.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of money actually spent in connection with the Derby, the cost of the scores of special trains and the cost of the hundreds of thousands of dollars paid out in training expenses for the horses. The course of efficient accountants employed at Churchill Downs, however, can tell you to the penny just how much money was spent for the race.

The day began rather badly for the Americans when Mme. La Faurie defeated Miss Cross, 6-3 9-7, thus giving the French a lead of three matches to one in the two-day series. The great battle between Miss Willis and Mme. Mathieu followed and for more than an hour the crowd was thrilled by a display of sparkling tennis. Miss Willis was well on her way to victory when she was playing much better than she ever has played in her life.

Then followed another long duel between Marjorie Morrill, of Desham, Mass., and Mme. Kleinadel. For a full hour the tall American and the petite Frenchman kept banging the ball back at one another with little to choose between them. Finally, however, Miss Morrill, who had won the first set, 10-8, and lost the second, 6-4, pulled out the final set, 7-5, for another American victory. In the third set Mme. Kleinadel was once within 2 points of victory, but the American rallied and finally won the 11th game to lead, 6-5.

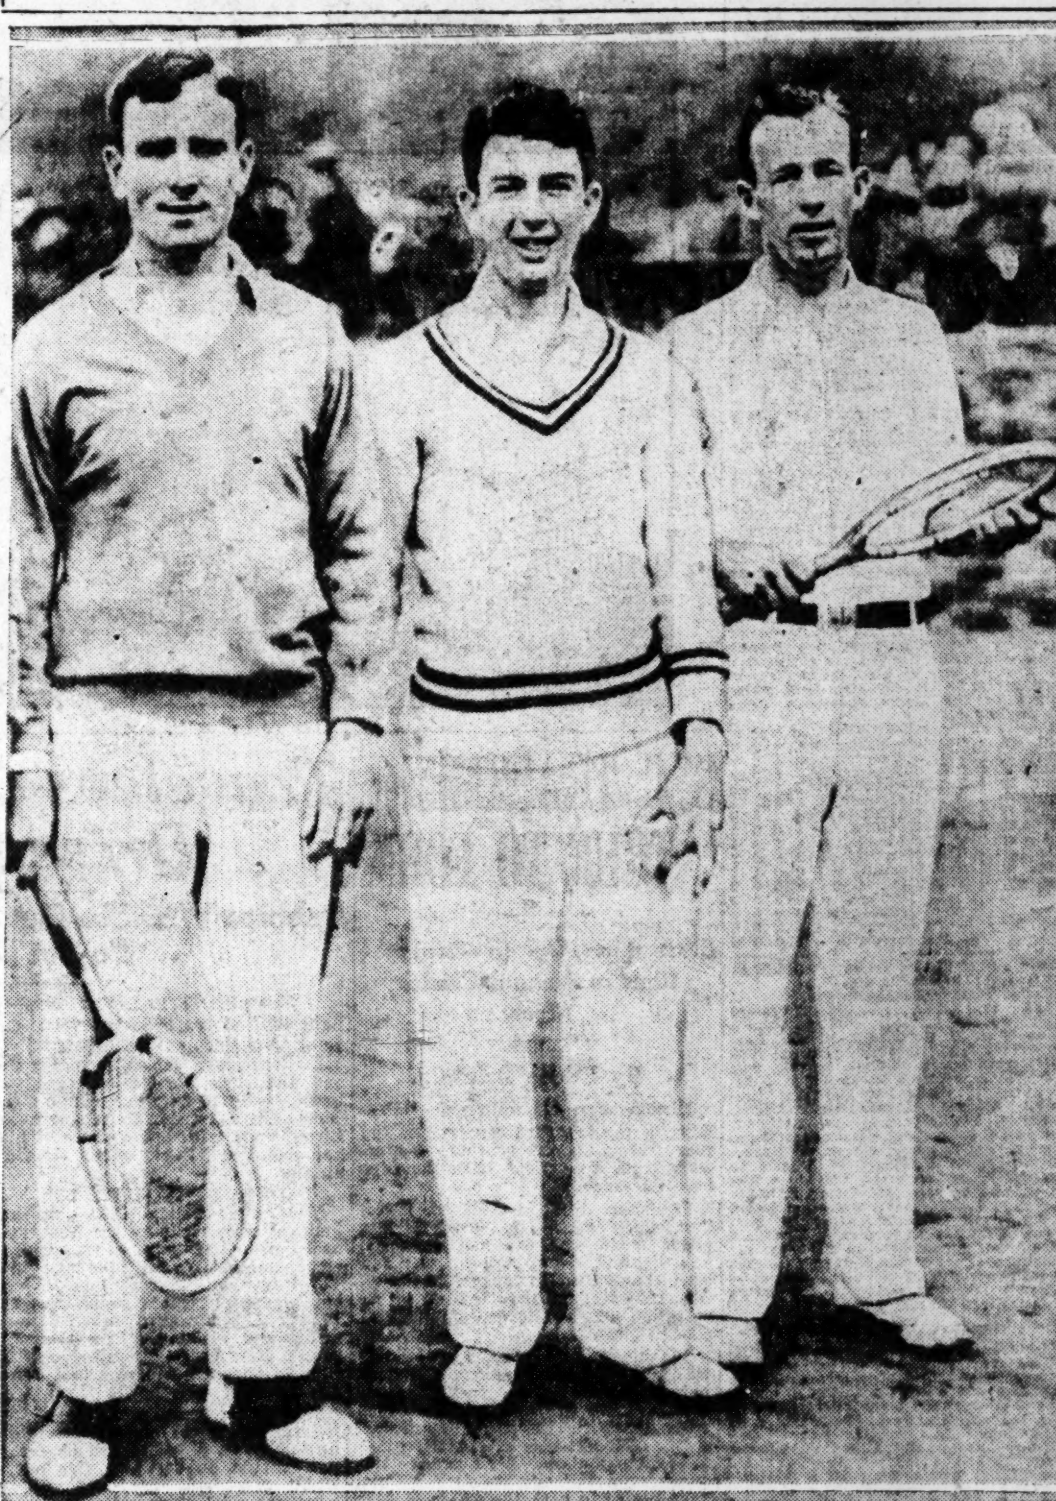

Banquet Tonight For Jacket Rats

Tonight at 8:30 members of the varsity and freshman swimming squads of Georgia Tech will convene at the A. C. C. for a banquet, given them by the Tech Athletic Association.

The jacket rats turned in a fine record, having suffered but two defeats during the season, both of these by schools outside the conference.

The rats also had a fairly successful season. Letters will be awarded at the affair and the captain of the next year's squad will be named.

U. S. Tennis Team Beats Canadians

A clean sweep was registered by the United States Davis cup tennis team in their matches with the Canadians. The Canadian entry had been feared but the young American team had no trouble winning. Left to right: John Hennessey, Indianapolis; John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison, Texas.

BITTER MATCH WON BY HELEN

Paris, May 19.—(AP)—Winning the matches out of four in a long afternoon of hard-fought tennis, the touring American women's squad defeated a picked French team today. Those who came to Roland Garros stadium were few—numbering not more than 2,000—but the tennis was worthy of Wimbledon's crowded stands.

For one thing, Helen Willis, queen of the courts, had what she herself called the toughest match she has played since Suzanne Lenglen defeated her.

Mme. Mathieu, who was Miss Simone Tasseand, matched her almost stroke for stroke through the last first set of their match which Miss Willis finally pulled out of the first set, 10-8, and lost the second, 6-4. The long first set exhausted the Frenchwoman, however, and Miss Willis rushed through to victory in the second set without losing a game and yielding only 9 points.

The two met again in the final and deciding match of the day—the doubles—in which Miss Willis had Edith Cross, of San Francisco, as a partner and Mme. Mathieu was teamed with Mme. La Faurie. Again the going was fast and the fight long and hard, but the Americans finally won out, 6-2, 2-4, 6-4.

The day began rather badly for the Americans when Mme. La Faurie defeated Miss Cross, 6-3 9-7, thus giving the French a lead of three matches to one in the two-day series. The great battle between Miss Willis and Mme. Mathieu followed and for more than an hour the crowd was thrilled by a display of sparkling tennis. Kleinadel was once within 2 points of victory, but the American rallied and finally won the 11th game to lead, 6-5.

The terrific battle Miss Willis had with the first set with Mme. Mathieu is shown in the point score. The American scored 43 points to Mme. Mathieu's 38, the point score:

Four S. E. Clubs Playing 500 Ball

During last week's play in the Southeastern league, 11 Montgomery Lions, choice team of the circuit, relinquished and later regained the league leadership, concluding the seven-day span Saturday with three victories and an equal number of defeats.

The Tampa Snickers stepped about at a sensational pace to capture five out of six contests and turn in the best percentage for the week. They are resting in fourth place with a mark of 500.

Four of the six clubs in the loop played 500 or better ball during the week. Although breaking even in victories and defeats, the Jungle Loris played good defensive ball to hold their opponents to a meager total of 18 runs. Jacksonville, however, scoring the most runs led in circuit clouts and double plays.

The statistics, including games of Saturday:

Cubs, Bucs, Browns Lead During Week

Each Club Wins Four Games and Loses One To Lead During Week

New York, May 19.—(A.P.)—The finish of the first intersectional test in the major leagues and the beginning of the second round of intra-sectional combat found the Cubs, the Pirates and the Browns at the front of the winning teams, each with four victories and one defeat. The Tigers won four out of seven and the Athletics four out of six in the seven days ending last night, and this finished the list of clubs which enjoyed good weeks. The best any of the others got was one game ahead of an even break.

The flourish of the Cubs returned them to the league lead, with a margin of one and one-half games over the Cardinals last night. The Cardinals finished well in the east, but ran into trouble at Pittsburgh, ending their week with only an even break in six games. The Giants not only failed in two games against Cincinnati, but dropped three of five at Boston, matching Brooklyn for the worst record of the week in the National league, two victories and five defeats.

The Braves snatched the inter-league batting championship for the week, pouncing out 102 hits to the dismay of various New York and Chicago pitchers, but the Bostonians had nine games in which to work. The Braves got only 41 runs for their half games to the rear of Connie Mack's camp.

The home-run palm for the week went to the Phillies, who became very careless with their right field wall. Ten Philadelphia drives cleared the barrier. The Robins, playing four games in Baker's bandbox, became familiar with their surroundings, to smash out nine homers. The Yankees, the Browns and the Tigers led the American league with four victories apiece.

While Brooklyn flashed the best offense of the week, the poorest defense in either league accompanied the team to a 10-1 defeat at St. Louis. The Red Sox, with 13 errors and 43 runs scored, collapsed this dubious honor for their own circuit.

The Cincinnati Reds, scored against only 22 runs, were the best in the National league. The Pirates, the Cubs, each with a deficit of 23 markers, Cleveland was much the best of the American league, with only 12 position runs against its record. Strong pitching by Walter Miller and his mates helped the Indians.

Joe Morgan, junior lightweight champion, will defend his title against Baby Salt Soria, San Bernardino Mexican, tomorrow night at the New York Coliseum. The Pacific coast's biggest fight of the week, Ace Hudkins and Tom Moore, of Long Beach, will provide the entertainment at Hollywood on Friday night.

Two of the country's best lightweights, Billy Wallace, of Cleveland, and Joe Glick, of New York, will travel the 12-round route at Cleveland on Tuesday night, and at Madison Square Garden Jack Berg, English 125-pounder, and Bruce Flanagan, New Rochelle negro, will clash in a return match on Thursday.

S. C. TRACKMEN Travelers Continue Drive to Top Place

Stars Live Up to Expectations in Annual Cinder Meet.

Birmingham, Ala., May 19.—(P)—Most of the favorites ran true to the form sheets in the southern track and field championships here Saturday.

Louisiana State and North Carolina, which finished one, two, did just about what was expected of them, but the Mississippi Aggies, who had been counted on to make it a three-horse race, failed to live up to the expectation and had to be content with a sixth place finish.

Washington and Lee, Auburn and Georgia, all ranked among the dark horses before the meet.

Washington and Lee's crack distance runners made them sit up and take notice in both the 440-yard dash and the 880-yard run, but the crowning event of the whole day for the Generals was a sensational victory in the one-mile relay.

This race started out as if history was going to be repeated and for the first three-quarters the Commodores were out in front. But Williams, by a sensational burst near the finish, crossed the line in front and what had been to be known as the Vanderbilt monopoly was broken.

"Ruck" Anderson, the Georgia field star, who was almost the whole team in both the relay and the 440-yard dash, had one of the worst days of his career else the Athens contingent might have made real trouble and finished ahead of both Auburn and Washington and Lee.

Anderson won the javelin throw, but his showing in the other events was far from impressive. Third was the best he could do in the high jump and he failed to place in the discus.

BEARD AND VIRGIN.
Auburn can thank the famous scoring team of Beard and Virgin for their third place finish. This pair accounted for 18 points by winning both hurdles races, while Beard added five more with a clean cut victory in the broad jump and his partner was in a tie for fourth place in the high jump.

Carter and Bell were the only other Auburn men to break into the point-scoring column.

Louisiana State, led by the fleet-footed Brown, tallied 35 points. Auburn, which had a 1-2-3 finish in the first two events, finished with 30 points. North Carolina, third last year, finished second with 22 1/2 yesterday.

Grinnell Defeats Griffin Nine, 6-4
Griffin, Ga., May 19.—(Special)—The local baseball club staged a powerful assault on the offerings of Grinnell, Grinnell county team, to score four runs in the third and fourth innings of their game here Saturday afternoon and overcome the three-run lead amassed by the visitors in the first two innings. The Grinnell squad came back in the ninth inning, 6 to 4, and later pulled across two tallies in the thirteenth to win.

MOON BLANKS BARONS, 5 TO 0

Travelers Continue Winning Streak at Expense of Birmingham.

Little Rock, Ark., May 19.—Leo Moon allowed the Birmingham Barons but two hits today, the Travelers winning easily, 5 to 0.

The locals leaned against Ray Francis in the first inning scoring four runs on six hits, which included a double by Klinger and a triple by Rose.

Mrs. Mildred Green Wed to Barron Hill At Washington

Washington, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The marriage of Mrs. Mildred Green, of Washington, and Barron Hill, of Elberton, quietly solemnized Saturday night at the First Methodist church, centered the interest of a wide circle of friends of the contracting parties today.

There was no prenuptial announcement and only the bride's mother and a friend witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Rembert G. Smith. Following their wedding journey, Mr. and Mrs. Hill will make their home in Washington.

FAMILY TRAGEDY CAUSES STUDENT TO END HIS LIFE

Franklin, Tenn., May 19.—(Special.)—Believed to have brooded over tragedies which overtook his father George C. Paschall, Jr., 23, former Vanderbilt student, and for the past year a medical student at Emory university, shot and killed himself this morning at the home of his cousin, McCrea Seward, near here.

He was the son of the late Dr. George C. Paschall, of Arlington, Tenn., who in 1922 was tried for the murder of his second wife, Mrs. Bessie Wilson Paschall, in a sensational case which resulted in a hung jury and never reached a second trial. The father died about three years ago.

Young Paschall had left Emory two months ago, because of ill health. He left the house this morning and went to the barn with a shotgun, saying he was going to shoot a crow. A few minutes later Seward found that he had shot himself.

NO COMMENCEMENT AT EMORY COLLEGE; PLAN FISH FRY

However, as a means of marking the close of the term the faculty of the college is planning a fish fry for the students which will be given Friday night. The place will be announced during the next few days, as soon as all the details are perfected.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

DIPPER TEASES PETER.

Beware of those who like to tease: Don't let them know you're ill at ease. —Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit sat on the bank of the Smiling Pool, staring in the most impolite manner at the two birds on the water just below him. A moment before, when he had turned his head, there had been but one there. When he had looked back there were two. To make it more perplexing, they looked just alike. They looked as if they might be twins. They were not, however, because one of them—and that one he knew was Dipper the Grebe—had just said: "Meet Mrs. Grebe, Peter Rabbit." The trouble was Peter Rabbit didn't know which one had spoken.

"I am pleased to meet you, Mrs. Grebe," said Peter, trying to be polite, all the time wondering which was Mrs. Grebe.

Just as Peter spoke, Rattle the Kingfisher flew overhead, making that harsh, rattling sound that no one but he can make. Peter looked up. When he looked down again there was but one of the Grebes in sight. "Oh!" exclaimed Peter. "Where has Mrs. Grebe gone?"

"Mrs. Grebe's right here, thank you," was the reply.

Peter felt foolish and looked it. "Excuse me," said he. "Please ex-

MARTIAL LAW PENDING IN MILL STRIKE ZONE

Elizabethton, Tenn., May 19.—(Special.)—Martial law in Carter county, scene of five weeks' textile labor disturbance, "will not be ordered unless it becomes necessary and authorized courts fail to function," Adjutant General W. C. Boyd said late today following a conference attended by representatives of the governor, the state attorney-general and military and civil officials.

General Boyd, who is in command of eight companies of national guardsmen who were ordered here to act as special officers, repeated his previous expressed determination not to proclaim martial law at this time.

Further than this statement, no information was given out in regard to any other decisions which may have been reached at the meeting, which was called to determine whether or not martial law would be legal and necessary.

Meanwhile, the incendiary situation growing out of strikes at the American Bemberg and American Glanzstoff plants on April 13 was still unabated, despite that there were no outward manifestations overnight. So tant were citizens' nerves that rumors of dynamiting, riots, and minor pillage continued to fly fast through the town. All of them were found to be groundless.

Troops Patrol Highways.

Further evidence of the tension was the presence of eight companies of national guardsmen, who patrolled all highways, and guarded the two textile plants. Extra troops were placed near the Bemberg filtering plant, and a truckload of soldiers was sent to guard Watauga river dam, 18 miles above the city. Damage to the filtering plant would stop operations at the mill, and to the dam would affect Elizabethton's water supply, and indirectly stop the Bemberg plant. Operations were resumed at both textile plants here last week, despite the strike, though it was disputed as to how great a scale operations were effective.

Last night one guardsman reported he was fired on while patrolling a mountain road. A group of guards early today fired on a few provokers near the Bemberg filtering plant. None was hurt. An early morning fire alarm awoke the whole town early today, so tant were nerves. A vacant house burned, but whether or not the fire was connected with the strike was undetermined.

25 Persons in Jail.

Approximately 25 persons, most of them men, were still in jail here today on various charges placed against them after strike disorders. The charges ranged from carrying concealed weapons, to intimidating workmen.

The military took extra precautions tonight following reports that strikers would engage in demonstrations tomorrow on picket duty. An all-day demonstration was held today.

LAKEWOOD CROWD ENJOYS CONCERT BY PLAYING CARDS

Playing before what was estimated to be the largest crowd they have had since the Casino at Lakewood park opened for the summer season Porter Keheley and his "Playing Cards" entertained Saturday night with excellent dance music.

Tuesday night, May 21, Keheley announced will be a gala night. Prizes for the best waltzes and fox trots will be awarded. Keheley also stated that he is making plans for a real old-fashioned square dance to be held at Lakewood park in the near future.

Music lovers of Atlanta were disappointed when rain made it impossible to hold the concert at Lakewood park Sunday afternoon.

The concerts were begun the first Sunday in May and are to be continued throughout the summer every Sunday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock.

While under park management the orchestra is under the active directorship of Johnny Lee.

CLEMENCY ASKED FOR CLINCH FARMER SLAYER OF TWO

Waycross, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The fate of Lester Chancey, young Clinch county farmer under sentence of death in the electric chair for the double murder of Jim Lee and Ruby Lee Anderson, will be placed in the hands of the governor of Georgia and the prison commission, it is revealed by attorneys for the defense at Homerville.

Judge W. R. Smith, Alapaha circuit, has postponed the re-sentencing of Chancey in order to give attorneys an opportunity to prepare papers for a clemency appeal.

Chancey shot and killed Lee, whom he blamed with the alienation of Mrs. Chancey's affections, and he also killed, in the same shooting affair, 8-year-old Ruby Lee Anderson, his sister-in-law. Mrs. Lester Chancey was a third victim of the volley of shots, narrowly escaping death. She will be blind for life as a result of a wound to her head, in which the optic nerve was severed.

"At home after November first—"

EACH year thousands upon thousands of those neat, white envelopes find their way through the mails. You know what they are before you open them... an inner envelope, and a trim card—"Mr. and Mrs. So-and-so announce the marriage of their daughter"—and another card—"At home after November 1st, at 101 Moonlight Avenue."

Every one means a new home initiated, a new family begun... a new set of problems faced by "two-who-are-one."

They've many a question to settle, and many a thing to buy. Furniture, kitchenware, linen and china—silverware, cereals, meats and potatoes... Familiar names will pass their lips as they buy—easily, naturally. Advertised products, quality merchandise... reliable... dependable. They've known them all their lives. But now they'll begin to read The Constitution advertisements in earnest—comparing values, budgeting expenses, choosing this, rejecting that, reserving the other till hubby gets his raise. They'll manage, all right—with the advertisements to help them.

Make it a habit to read Constitution advertisements regularly. The days of helter-skelter selection and blindfolded buying are over. For the sake of time, economy and convenience, have your mind made up when you start out to buy.

Regular reading of The Constitution advertisements is one of the essentials of good housekeeping.

"You do know what I mean. Nothing is gained by me wanting to marry you. Our association has got to appear as if it were a business transaction. One point of view is that I would be a wife without a husband. What happens if my present place—how soon is it?"

"I can wait three weeks." She forced herself to smile.

"Well, And supposing these people find out about our relationship? They think that there was anything between doctor and domestic affairs? (Aburid) But they don't have anything to do with us. A doctor's private life doesn't seem to matter to anyone here."

"But my wife had made a reputation for herself."

"A population of 500,000 by 1932" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

New Depot Will Be Great Forward Step for Atlanta

The progressive action last week of the public service board in permitting the N. C. & St. L. railroad to go ahead in building a new Union depot in Atlanta between Forsyth and Spring streets, according to Harry Zaban, head of the Zaban Storage Company, is an act that will do more good for the city of Atlanta than anything the board has done for this city with the possible exception of the new viaduct since the board itself was created.

"It will be noted," continued Mr. Zaban, "when we say between Forsyth and Spring streets this does not necessarily mean the depot itself will be that long. A bridge or viaduct scarcely 100 yards long will undoubtedly suggest itself to the railroad engineers as connecting up Spring street to the western end of the new depot and will give an exit and entrance from both Forsyth and Spring streets on nearly the same level. This would also mean but two or three minutes walking time between the two large depots."

Mr. Zaban says that the citizen who has not studied this matter can hardly realize what it will mean to Atlanta to have a magnificent new depot covering the tracks from Forsyth street west to the Spring street viaduct.

A new depot on this site, he pointed out, would permit railroad officials to build a much larger building than elsewhere and at the same time would locate the new depot so close to the present terminal station that they would be almost together and more convenient to Atlanta people, visitors and strangers.

Speaking about the storage business, Mr. Zaban said: "The storage business, like all other modern businesses, has made great strides in improved methods, as is evidenced by the new motor trucks and local packing methods adopted by progressive storage companies like the large companies of Atlanta. "Location and service play an important part in their success," he added. "A party moving in or out from the city likes to know his choice pieces will be carefully handled and stored free from damage until called for, or if they are to be shipped, that they will be properly packed. Through a splendid hook-up with many storage and long distance hauling companies of other cities, we are doing an unusually good business in long-distance hauling and are getting many return loads. As a result, we are often in position to give very attractive price reductions on way loads from Atlanta."

Mr. Zaban is one of Atlanta's young progressive business men, being an active member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Shrine, and other popular organizations. Mr. Zaban also takes an active hand in civic matters pertaining to the best interest and growth of Atlanta and its vicinity.

RECORD ATTENDANCE TO HEAR A. B. C. HEAD

Heavy reservations for the dinner of the Five Point League tonight at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel indicate that a record attendance of Atlanta's advertising men and women will be on hand to hear the address to be delivered by O. C. Harn, managing director of the Audit Bureau of Circulation.

Mr. Harn, who comes to Atlanta specially to address the league, is one of the country's most outstanding advertising and circulation authorities. He has had a brilliant and extensive experience in both fields and was one of the founders of the A. B. C. organization.

Officials of the Five Point League point out that the address will be helpful and instructive to all engaged in advertising, and urge that members be present and bring guests to hear Mr. Harn. Belated reservations may be secured by communicating with Mrs. Virginia Goudey in the Hurt building, it is announced.

Open Season for Fishing Will Soon Be Here

The open season for fishing in Georgia begins June 1, and amateur and professional fishermen will soon be looking over fishing tackle supplies and getting away to their favorite casting place.

The experienced fisherman of today knows that there is the right kind of rod for every kind of fishing. In the matter of securing good fishing tackle, people living in the vicinity of Atlanta or visitors to this city have a great advantage, for the large wholesale and retail house of Walthour & Hood is located here at 52 and 54 Forsyth street, S. W. Due to the fact that the company sells tackle in seven southeastern states, it offers to the retailer or individual the opportunity of selecting from the largest line to be seen in the southeast.

The visitor to Walthour & Hood can get a splendid selection of Japanese bamboo rod with nickel mountings, spiral guides and black enameled grips for $1, or he can get any other kind of rod for $1.50. The firm carries a bamboo split bamboo rods for fly casting or salt water fishing at any price up to $50. When it comes to artificial and minnows for bait, the firm carries all the latest on the market and has a bait for every sort of fish.

Speaking of artificial bait, it may be interesting news to the amateur fisherman to know that there are more than 400 different types and colors of bait and a great many of these are favorite with fishermen for certain kinds of fishing.

As Walthour & Hood have always been known as leaders in golf and tennis supplies, their salesrooms are favorite meeting places for those who need anything in either of these lines. They carry large stocks of both tennis and golf supplies, and disciples of both games can get there all the year around just what they want.

They carry complete camping outfits for those that like outdoor life, and their Gold Medal folding furniture is fast becoming popular with campers or for use at home on the porch or lawn. In athletic goods, such as girls' basketball middles, jerseys, knicker and bloomers, men's gym suits, shirts and sweaters, and in bathing suits they have them right up to the minute and the needs of the day.

The manager of the baseball department, Winfield Short, attributes fresh business there to the fact that the company offered baseball players a very low price on high-grade uniforms and the guaranteed 36-inning Walco ball at the beginning of the season.

Randall Bros., Inc., Adds New Electrol Oil Burner

With the advent of the oil burner, heat has been turned from an unruly and more or less unmanageable aid against the rigors of the elements into a disciplined and willing servant of men. Oil burner means controlled heat. The oil burner has taken its place in modern life.

The oil burner is to heating what the telephone is to communication, light to illumination. It has won its place for only one reason. It does its allotted work better than the best work has ever been done before. Just as the oil burner provided heat and comfort beyond the physical possibilities of any other material or method, so the Electric Quiet All-Electric oil burner is said to assure results far beyond the possibilities of any old style burner.

The Electrol is operated by a single small motor, motor fan and pump being mounted on one shaft without gearing. Moving parts are reduced to a minimum. All that is necessary with Electrol is to set the thermostat at the temperature one desires and it remains there, never varying more than two degrees. No matter how severe the weather may be or how suddenly an extreme drop in temperature may come, the temperature indoors remains unchanged.

The Electrol Oil Burner is sold in Atlanta territory by Randall Bros., Inc., who have opened up a new department as the oil burner and fuel oil department at 631 Spring street, N. W. Not only will Randall Bros. sell fuel oil and new Electrol burners, but they are also installing large fuel oil storage tanks on Piedmont road to enable them to furnish fuel oil at a very low price. The kind of service that they have been rendering to the people of Atlanta and vicinity for over 40 years.

A first-class competent oil burner engineer has been secured to assure the new burner of being a success in this part of the country. He is Harvie Wharton, one of the pioneer oil burner men of this country. Mr. Wharton recently installed one of these Electrol Automatic Oil Burners in the sales and demonstration rooms and he invited every person who is in any way interested in this new modern way of heating homes and other buildings to call by the salesroom if convenient or write for descriptive literature.

CURB MARKET DULL SOMEWHAT HEAVY

New York, May 19.—(AP)—The curb market was rather dull and inclined to heaviness last week, in sympathy with the stock exchange, but spectacular advances in the utilities and some of the specialties provided the highlights of the week's activity.

The realignment of the holdings of some of the large utility holding companies which has been in progress during recent months provided the background for the advances in this group. Electric Investors again scored more than 30 points. Electric Bond and Share rose above 100 on rumors that it may be transferred to the "big board." St. Regis paper was a strong feature late in the week, on reports that Johns Manville may take over its paper interests. American Superpower issues, United Gas Improvement, Mohawk and Hudson Power and Buffalo Niagara and Eastern were also buoyant.

Fokker Aircraft rose about 12 points to 67 1/2 in connection with acquisition of a 40 per cent interest by General Motors, then sagged to 62. Bendix shares were also strong. The most spectacular performance was provided by the stock of Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, which advanced 10 points on a new development of the curb's rule against non-voting company stock. It rose from 352 to 404, and closed at 400. Tube and Pipe Electric and kind of oil burners were also high fliers. Sentry Safety Control, a recent bull feature, ran into considerable profit-taking late in the week. The Ford issues were quiet and moved in narrow ranges.

Gulf of Pennsylvania was a feature of the oils, mounting nearly 20 points, but losing some of its gain in profit-taking. The rest of the group, however, made little or no headway, despite the increases in gasoline prices. In the mines, Noranda was fairly active and firm, and Newmont gained a few points in a moderate turnover.

R. L. YORK DOING MUCH TO ELEVATE BILLIARDS HERE

The remarkable pocket billiard playing of Harry Oswald, international expert and representative of the National Billiard Association, during the past week has done much to stimulate interest in pocket billiards in Atlanta and vicinity. Mr. Oswald, who was a former newspaperman, not only entertained by his wonderful playing but also lectured on the fundamentals of the game and the deportment of players while in a billiard parlor.

He stressed the fact that pocket billiards is a gentleman's game and that if a player doesn't conduct himself as a gentleman in a recreation parlor he will soon see that his presence is no longer desired by the men who have large investments in their billiard parlors.

Mr. Oswald made several high runs during his six exhibitions here. Several times he ran over 50 at one time. In one game with a local expert, he ran out in three innings by the score of 24, 34 and 38, while his opponent made but 7.

In another game with Hack Eibel he made an all-time Atlanta record by running 180 in the first inning, not giving Mr. Eibel another shot during the game. Mr. Oswald was

The Business Barometer

BY THEODORE H. PRICE,
Editor, Commerce and Finance, New York.

President Hoover's committee on recent economic changes made a report last week that is a veritable mine of information. It is a report that fills two volumes and is signed by President Hoover and many leaders of American business who served on the committee compiling it. It says that economically we have a boundless field of insatiable wants before us, and that we have the necessary capital, productive power, communication, transportation, education and skill in science and the arts to take advantage of the opportunity. It predicts that our wealth will increase even more rapidly in the future than in the recent past if the economic balance between production and consumption can be maintained. This prediction is buttressed by exhaustive analyses and interpretations of our economic development for the last seven years, of which it is said that it has been "splendid beyond all human experience."

Probably there are few who will challenge the optimistic prophecies that are to be found in this book, but there is a wide difference of opinion as to when the goal of perfect stability, an even rate of production without "dips," and accurately distributed prosperity will be reached. Meanwhile it is a fact that there is such a thing as over-discounting the future and that in some respects there are reasons for caution in the outlook for as far as it has developed. Therefore, in the stock market, as well as upon the commodity exchanges, the speculative pace was noticeably slackened last week.

Paradoxical Market. The stock market presents something of a paradox in that it now declines when money is easier, and advances when the rate on call loans goes up. This seeming paradox is probably due to the pressure pursued by some of the larger traders who are liquidating and realize that when money is easier the public is more disposed to buy than when interest rates are soaring.

A slight increase in brokers' loans was announced last Thursday evening and that are some who now maintain that a further contraction is neither necessary or desirable as long as the movement of prices is moderate. They point out that the reserve banks have a ratio of reserves to deposits and note liabilities of 45.1 per cent, compared with 49.7 per cent a year ago and the legal minimum of 40 per cent; that the amount of reserve credit employed by the member banks is $200,000,000 less than last year; that gold holdings are $250,000,000 larger than at the beginning of the year and only about $300,000,000 below the peak reached in 1925; and that the loans of the leading member banks now stand about $707,000,000 below their total on January 1 last. Hence the bitter complaints against "artificial money rates" and the "persecution" of the stock market.

But complaint cannot obscure the fact that a hitherto unheard of volume of stocks is being carried on borrowed money largely by those who expect to resell them at a profit. If any accident, or the relentless logic of events, should set these sellers to competing with each other the effect would be disastrous. Therefore, the reserve authorities properly refuse to take any steps to further encourage such borrowing.

As a truer index to credit conditions than the reserve banks' statement, Colonel Ayres, of Cleveland, points out that the gold base of the inverted pyramid which comprises the credit in use is now lower than it has ever been before, even at the worst of the inflation period and monetary strain of 1920.

Has Little Effect. Meanwhile it is still true that the advance in money rates is having astonishingly little effect upon commerce and industry. I recently addressed a questionnaire to a group of substantial businessmen in the middle west in which I asked the effect of the higher money rates upon their affairs. Out of two dozen or so replies a few surprise me by saying that there has been no advance in the cost of or-

BUSINESS REVIEW OF THE PAST WEEK

New York, May 19.—(AP)—The extraordinarily brisk activity in heavy industries was maintained with practically no signs of seasonal slackening during the past week, but retail trade was still retarded by wet and cool weather in many sections.

The most unsettling development of the previous week, the sharp break in wheat prices, appeared checked until late in the week, when estimates of a heavy new crop, on top of the large carry-over from last year, again depressed prices close to the $1-a-bushel level. The tangle in congress over farm relief was also rather disappointing.

Facts in Accord. With this view the facts are mostly in accord. Business is booming in the iron, steel and automobile districts and good nearly everywhere else, even in sections relying largely upon agriculture. The iron and steel mills continue to operate virtually at capacity and most of the third quarter buying is still to be done the momentum of the industry promises to carry almost through the summer.

The automobile industry, while still at record production, seems on the verge of curtailment, with manufacturers watching sales carefully. Rubber consumption in April exceeded previous figures by a wide margin, but some reduction of activity in that industry also is soon expected. The cotton mills need new orders, which may come slowly unless the present fear of a too large cotton crop is modified.

Improvement in building during April is one of the most encouraging items in the news. But it is offset by the decline in the construction of new securities, which reflects the prostration of the bond market and the hesitation that is now apparent in stocks. During April only one new foreign loan was floated in the United States, and if our debtors cannot borrow from us the problem of payment may become sufficiently acute to compel them to reduce their purchases. Our sins will find us out, and in one way or another the penalties of high money rates must eventually be incurred.

Markets Steadier. The commodity markets are somewhat steadier except in the case of copper, in which the leading companies have felt impelled to put a 10 per cent curtailment of output into effect. The record production during April increased stocks for the first time this year, and the course of this market may warn those who fail to realize that at high prices the law of supply and demand is busily at work putting things in order again.

Rubber is higher and wheat and cotton are doing somewhat better as it is realized there is many a slip 'twixt the planting and the harvest. A large business has been placed in sugar, but to purge the market of its surplus supply apparently will require a long time.

The legislative situation in Washington is complicated and it will be long before the tariff bill is passed inasmuch as the export duty plan which is now in the farm relief bill is expected to be transferred to it. But the uncertainty has yet had no pronounced effect upon the distribution of goods nor has the continued failure to settle the reparations problem. Therefore confidence that the momentum of business will carry it far before much curtailment becomes necessary is probably justified.

The petroleum industry continued to regard the future more cheerfully. Gasoline prices were increased a full cent a gallon by Standard of Indiana, and President League of Standard of New Jersey, in his annual report, pointed to the substantial headway that is being made toward controlling production. Freight car loadings for the latest week still indicated that distribution of goods was going forward near record levels. While the total was slightly less than the previous week, it was again above 1,000,000 cars. The insolvency record, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co. for the previous week, was a little less favorable, showing 47 more failures than for the week before, and 22 more than for the like week a year ago.

SCANT ATTENTION GIVEN TO BONDS

New York, May 19.—(AP)—A public interest in the wide fluctuations in stocks and the variations in the call money paid scant attention last week to the bond issue, especially since charges for time money, an important factor in bond prices remained abnormally high.

Except for the convertibles, which carry possibilities of appreciation, obligations of corporations, railroads and utilities were in small demand during the past week, when time loans ranged between 8-3/4 and 9 per cent. A hint at the current view of present conditions was afforded by the six-day period. Large bond houses report an absence of both supply and demand in the case of high-grade issues, with the result that prices continue depressed, hovering just above the low average for the year established in the credit crisis of late March. The insurance companies, which constantly have funds to place in high-grade securities, and institutions are the chief purchasers of bonds in the present market, although there were indications last week that independent investors were buying here and there as they noted issues at what they considered bargain prices. Banks are said to be ready to enter the market again if easier money rates make bonds attractive to the financial institutions.

The offerings of the week totaled approximately $80,000,000, or about $15,000,000 below the amount for the previous week. The largest item was the $25,000,000 issue of Allegheny Corporation 20-year convertible 5 per cent, and turnover of these securities moderately large, reflecting public interest in new bonds that carry stock options.

A considerable portion of the recent major bond financing has been done through such issues, for what little market there is seems to demand the possibilities for price appreciation that the share privilege obligations afford. Large corporations doubtless find this situation to their advantage, for they are able to finance through convertible debentures rather than through mortgages.

A hint at the current view of present conditions was afforded by the statement of Dr. Harvey N. Davis, president of Stevens Institute of Technology, who said that during the last three years the college had averaged a return of 12 per cent on its capital investments in common stocks in preference to bonds. Prime bonds, he pointed out, could be made to yield 5-1/2 per cent "with practically no hope of appreciation."

"If you buy stocks you speculate," added Dr. Davis, "and if you buy bonds you speculate, but in the case of the latter you speculate without a chance to win."

Municipalities came into last week's market for $10,000,000, but the tempo of the time is such that they were forced to make the terms of the issues attractive.

New Orleans, May 19.—(AP)—The past week has developed alternate periods of quiet and activity in the cotton market with moderate price fluctuations from day to day. The general trend of prices was mildly upward, however, in contrast with the experience of preceding weeks. The weather continued to be the dominating influence and as there was too much rain over the greater portion of the belt and temperatures were too cool in the central and northern portions, the developments on the whole have been unfavorable to crop progress.

As a result of the unfavorable weather it has been impossible to properly cultivate the crop and the cool temperatures have either prevented the proper germination of the seed planted or have resulted in deficient stands rendering considerable replanting necessary. There has also been complaints of fields becoming grassy due to deficient cultivation.

As a result of unfavorable weather conditions there has been more or less trade buying and there has also been considerable short covering with the result that prices have improved. Yesterday July traded as high as 18.97 or 33 points above the closing level of the preceding Saturday. October advanced to 18.80 or 22 points above the close of the preceding week.

With the many reports of less favorable crop conditions there has been a disposition to revise estimates of acreage increase downward and to take a less optimistic view of the ultimate output of the crop.

Reports of heavy emergence of boll weevils in Texas and many private reports from other sections claiming that the insects are in the fields in numbers have caused fears that the depredations of insect pests will have to be contended with during the summer unless held in check by hot and dry weather.

The following shows the high, low and closing prices in the New Orleans futures market during the past week compared with a year ago.

FOREIGN TRADE SHOWS INCREASE

BY R. L. BARNUM.

New York, May 18.—Most newspaper readers in this country hurriedly skip over the monthly foreign trade statements given out at Washington in search of what is believed to be more important and interesting stock market items. This is not surprising when it is kept in mind that the country-wide interest now being shown in the stock market is something comparatively new; that prior to the World War interest in the stock market was confined largely to this section of the country, mostly within a few hundred miles of Wall street.

It does not require much imagination, however, to see in the spot distant future as much public interest in our foreign trade monthly statements as is shown in England or France or Germany. In these statements is found the key to the absorbing story the stock market has been telling in recent years and is still telling.

Favorable Balance.
For 1914, the year the war started, our exports amounted to $2,113,000,000 with imports at $1,780,000,000, making a balance in our favor of $333,000,000. Our exports were then made up largely of grain, cotton and other farm products. The next year the Allies began to buy food and war supplies here, selling bonds in this market to raise the needed funds and our exports jumped to $3,554,000,000 with imports at $1,778,000,000, giving us a favorable balance of $1,776,000,000 compared with the $324,000,000 for 1914. During the war and after war boom period, our foreign trade mounted year by year, until exports for 1920 stood at the amazing total of $8,228,000,000 and imports at $5,578,000,000. At the peak, our annual exports exceeded imports by no less than $2,650,000,000, or more than combined exports and imports for 1914.

Then post-war deflation started here and throughout the world and year by year our foreign trade fell off until for 1926 our favorable balance, that is, the excess of exports over imports was back where it was in 1914. Since then, there has been resumed expansion in our foreign trade.

In the meantime, what was going on in our foreign trade was being reflected in our gold holdings. At the beginning of 1914 this country had $1,925,000,000 gold. Just before post-war deflation started, we had $3,177,000,000. Then we lost some when our foreign trade began to fall off and other countries began to return to a gold basis. By 1924, however, our gold holdings were at a new high record above $4,000,000,000. That was when the period of unprecedented ex-money in this country started. Our gold holdings continued to increase until the peak was reached in April of 1927 at $4,610,000,000.

Below Comparisons.
The foreign trade and gold movement figures just given out at Washington cover April of this year. The figures for the 10 months of the current fiscal year ending June 30, are given below with comparisons for the past eight years, first merchandise exports and imports with the excess of exports over imports and then the same for the gold movement.

For the ten months of the government's current fiscal year to the end of April we had an excess of exports over imports of $1,060,000,000, the largest since the corresponding period of 1922 with a drop in the meantime to only $231,000,000. For the first ten months of last year we shipped out $2,236,000,000 more gold than we imported. For the corresponding period of this year, gold imports exceeded exports by $101,000,000.

Gain More Wealth.
When the post-war deflation period ended, leaving us the strongest country in the world, the federal reserve had to decide between adopting a policy of using our financial and industrial strength to gain more wealth as rapidly as possible from the rest of the world, or else help war-ridden countries back on their feet with us sharing at a slower but more lasting pace in the general recovery.

The last-named policy was lightly selected. It was in carrying out this policy that money was made cheaper in the summer of 1927, so that part of our unprecedented gold holdings could be shipped abroad. The cheap money policy adopted in the summer, however, encouraged the unprecedented stock speculation which the federal reserve is now fighting because it is upsetting the credit situation of our own and other countries. As shown above, we are now getting back the gold we shipped abroad, beginning in the early autumn of 1927. We are drawing back that gold partly because of our increasingly favorable foreign trade balance and partly because the urgent demand of our stock market for money has advanced interest rates to a point where capital is being attracted from every part of the world.

Our increasingly favorable foreign trade balance has been due partly to the offerings of new securities in this market by foreign countries with part of the proceeds spent here. The high interest rates of this year, however, have absolutely stopped the floating of foreign securities in this market. Hence, unless there is a drop in our money rates, the drying up of foreign loans here will have an unfavorable influence on our foreign trade which, in turn, will react on our domestic business.

Before the war, our exports were made up mostly of farm products. Today, merchandise plays a much larger part in our exports.

"HOSTILE" AIR ARMIES OBSERVE TRUCE SUNDAY
U. S. Ships in Maneuvers Give Public Treat by Inspection.

Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, May 19.—(P)—One hundred seventy fighting planes which have dealt imaginary death in mimic warfare from the clouds above Ohio for the past four days, were drawn up for public inspection here and at Norton field, Columbus, today, as the truce between the Red and Blue armies extended over the Sabbath.

Not a propeller whirled today, for the public was invited to view at close range the fast pursuit ships, the ponderous bombers and the trim observation planes that roared and soared between the two camps yesterday. Dayton and Cincinnati yesterday in attack and counter-attack, ending with the review at Norton field and the truce which will end at midnight Monday.

Commanding officers of the rival forces spent the day and night talking over battle plans for the coming week while their pilots talked of everything under the sun except the fatal accident which robbed them of their comrade, Second Lieutenant E. L. Meadow, of Nashville, Tenn., and caused injury to Second Lieutenant A. P. Solter, of Los Angeles, after a collision over Columbus yesterday.

"This is war, and that was just another casualty," was the title here where the two fliers had been stationed with the Blue army. The Blues had an edge of five to nine in planes "lost" on runnings of the un-pieces during the battle yesterday, thereby turning the tables on the Reds who won victories earlier in the week.

Ground troops will form battle lines Tuesday on a front west of Columbus, about 25,000 theoretically being engaged.

Ground operations are scheduled to begin at midnight Tuesday.

HUNTER CO. REPORTS LARGE SALES WEEK

Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company, New York, says:

"Our sales this week are the largest since the middle of April. Sales of grey goods, fine and fancy goods, and towels were well in excess of production. Colored goods were still behind, though the volume of business on gingham and chambray was the best since the end of March. Exactly one-third of all colored goods sold this week went for export. Our total sales for the week were well in excess of production, however, and bring the volume for the first three weeks of May with us up to the level of full production."

"Market sentiment is somewhat less onesided than it was a short time ago. Buyers then could see no possibility of anything except lower prices, but the last week or ten days has uncovered the existence of a large potential demand still to be placed for July-August delivery. While buyers have not advanced their bids, the prices offered are unattractive on the basis of present cost of manufacture, and they have been very generally declined. In one or two cases spot goods have been sold by first or second hands at prices which the mills have declined to large volumes for June, July and August, or July, August and September delivery."

"At the moment the market is at rather a pivotal point, although it may take another two or three weeks to decide on what basis these orders are finally going to be placed."

"A good spell of bright, sunny weather would be appreciated by the retail trade and would certainly help to spur demand, but the market is by no means as flat as it was the latter part of April and it is clear that any improvement in retail trade would be quickly reflected in Worth street by calls for prompt shipment of finished goods."

"Prices for cotton goods of almost every character remain unsatisfactory, and we regret to say that little progress is being made to remedy this situation in any clearcut way."

"Competition is intensely keen and, though lessened as looms become sold up from time to time for early delivery, breaks out again immediately orders fall off. Curtailment is talked of, but little is done. Prices suffer. The volume of business actually done for the first six months will make a remarkable showing, compared with any previous year. The profits will fail to fairly represent the volume."

Two Men Drown While Fishing In the Ocmulgee

Macon, Ga., May 19.—(P)—Police headquarters and the sheriff's office were informed tonight that two men were drowned in the Ocmulgee river, six miles south of Macon near the Southern Railway drawbridge, late this afternoon.

The information was brought in by D. R. Parks, 107 St. John street, East Macon, a seal clerk for the Central Georgia Railway, and John Cherry, butcher, residing on Calhoun street.

Parks and Cherry were with them when they reached the uptown district, having been in the water for some time, they stated, before being rescued. They said that Ed Parker and Will Womack were the persons drowned. Both are single men, and Womack, they said, was a carpenter. Parker had a camp along the river and was known as a fisherman.

"We were in a 16-foot bateau with motor attached," said Parks. "We were going down stream, the boat being overhauled with the four men aboard. As we were approaching the drawbridge a speed boat passed us. The waves swamped us."

Parks said that he and Cherry swam toward shore and as he looked back he saw Parker drifting downstream with the current. "I yelled to him to turn to the bank," said Parks, "but when we were picked up by Russell Walker, who had put out in another boat, neither of them was in sight."

LYERLY MAN DIES.

L. C. Groce Found Dead in Bed at Home.

Lyerly, Ga., May 19.—(Special)—L. C. Groce, 57, well-known citizen, was found dead in bed yesterday morning at his home two miles west of here. He has worked in the field all day Friday and retired in apparently his usual health. His wife heard a peculiar sound as if he was struggling and on investigation found he was dead.

Surviving are his widow; three sons, Don, Hoke and Leonard Groce; three daughters, Mrs. George Reese, Misses Ruby and Kate Groce; his mother, Mrs. Sallie Groce; three brothers, C. A. and George Groce, all of Lyerly, and Gordon Groce, of Ellijay, Ga.

FLAPPER VOTE PUZZLES BRITISH POLITICIANS

London, May 19.—(P)—Party leaders in the British election campaign this Whit Sunday rested, for tomorrow they resume their efforts to reach the multitude with renewed vigor, despite the fact it is nomination day, a public holiday.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin left London today for Liverpool to encounter Lancashire holiday crowds at Fleetwood and Blackpool tomorrow. Ramsay MacDonald, labor leader, starts southward tomorrow from Scotland, where he has been campaigning.

David Lloyd George, liberal, remains at his Welsh home. He will be the only leader personally attending his own nomination, standing in Carnarvon district, where he faces conservative and labor opponents.

The holiday lull, brief though it was, induced some attempts at a general review of the campaign, which will end with polling on May 30. None of the estimates, however, can be very valuable, for apart from the vague issues of the election itself, the new women's vote baffles any estimate of its effect.

The Sunday Express suggests the conservatives will retain the agricultural areas and such residential places as Bognor, Brighton and Bournemouth, for these interests are very close to the heart of conservatism. It also thinks labor will profit from the split vote in the industrial areas and that the liberals will maintain their hold on the Celtic fringes and even advance in the traditional strongholds where there is a mixed industrial and residential population, especially where steady employment rules.

Unbroken Growth A Steady Upward Trend is the record of the utility industry

During 1921, when the most serious business depression in fifty years occurred, when the volume of manufacture declined 32%, the electric light and power industry not only showed no loss but actually made a gain.

Why?

The public utility industry serves and receives revenue from almost every industry, every business and every home in practically every community of 1,000 population or over.

Even in any one city—unless it is a one-industry community—the active industries at any given time offset the less active ones.

The use of electricity in the average home is still for the most part on a minimum-necessity basis and can scarcely be reduced in less prosperous times.

Since 1913 the sale of manufactured gas has increased 160% and the number of customers nearly 80%.

The public utility industry is in its period of rapid growth. Additional uses and needs for its services are constantly arising.

The General Gas and Electric Corporation has large holdings in widely diversified utility enterprises. Its operating properties serve the prosperous citrus growing area of Florida and the rapidly developing industrial area of South Carolina centering at Columbia where a development on the Saluda River is being constructed which will have the largest artificial lake in the world for hydro electric power.

The unbending stability coupled with the steady upward trend of the industry offers an unparalleled investment opportunity.

Atlanta.

"The Command to Love," the most elaborate play of the season, is being offered this week at the Atlanta theater by the Fulwider All-Star Players.

This a story of diplomatic circles in Madrid, where a young attaché to the French embassy is ordered to make love to the Spanish war minister's wife in order to secure the signing of an important treaty.

Keith's Georgia.

Bacanova, that amazing Russian actress is co-starring with Clive Brook in Paramount's latest production, "A Dangerous Woman."

The story depicts the effect that the torrid tropical zones of Africa have on a ravishing beauty from civilization.

They called her a dangerous woman for leading men to destruction, but she was to be blamed? "A Dangerous Woman" is the feature film offered by Keith's Georgia this week.

Also on the program is the stage five-act bill of Keith vaudeville offers a wide variety of entertainment.

Loew's Capitol.

The melodramatic success, is reproduced this week on the screen at Loew's Capitol in a sound film that enhances the dramatic intensity of this powerful production.

The vaudeville bill is headlined by William Gibson in "Dear Little Rebel," a romantic operetta of the ante-bellum south. Four other acts of Loew vaudeville, with a Metro-Motion picture and current news reels complete the program.

Howard.

"The Howard offers this week "Gentlemen of the Press," written by Ward Morehouse, formerly a popular member of Atlanta's newspaper fraternity.

Walter Houston, Broadway favorite, makes his debut on the audible screen, enacting the colorful role of Wick Snell, a real newspaperman.

Also on the program is presented Ruth Etting, popular recording artist, a hilarious sound act and other screen novelties.

Metropolitan.

Phyllis Farrow, Louis Wolkstein and Robert Armstrong are seen and heard in "The Shady Lady," the story of a beautiful woman, daring and hunted for a crime of which she was innocent.

She is threatened with exposure by a man who knew her, unless she accedes to his wishes. What happens makes unusual entertainment.

Loew's Grand.

"Show Boat," the sensational sound film production, redolent of the days when show boats plied up and down the Mississippi, is the screen feature at Loew's Grand this week.

Laura LaPlante and Joseph Schildkraut are the principals in the picture, while several musical features from the Zeigfeld stage show of the same name are interpolated into the action of the story.

Alamo No. 2.

"The Silver Slave," starring Irene Rich, is the Warner Brothers' production which comes to the Alamo No. 2 theater today.

The picture is a comedy-drama of modern life, a romance portraying the conflict between a mother and daughter in the affairs of the heart.

Cameo.

That inimitable comedy team of George K. Arthur and Karl Dane make their appearance at the Cameo today in their very new picture, "China Bound."

Josephine Dunn is the sweet young thing for whom the two underdogs may hairbreadth escape.

Tolly Moran, back from no where, is a riot, and she almost snags the decision from the big boys on the laughs.

Empire.

Fannie Brice, one of the most popular of all stage stars, and who has a limitless supply of stage material, is featured in "My Man," the Warner Brothers all-time picture, which will be shown today and Tuesday at the Empire theater, corner Georgia avenue and Crow street.

In addition to singing "My Man," the theme song of the picture, several times, also is heard in several fine comedy numbers.

FIRE DESTROYS BUSINESS SECTION OF MELBOURNE, ARK.

Mountain Home, Ark., May 19.—(AP)—Fire early today destroyed most of the business section of Melbourne, county seat of Izard county, with a loss estimated from $50,000 to $60,000.

The fire originated in the kitchen of a restaurant. The owner, A. B. Briggs, reported flames from a gasoline stove were ignited as he struck a match to light a cigarette.

A high wind fanned the flames to other buildings, which were situated on a square surrounding the courthouse. All were destroyed with the exception of Bryant brothers' general merchandise store.

Buildings destroyed include the Bank of Melbourne, two barber shops, Briggs' restaurant, Thomlinson's store, telephone exchange, and Hayden Landers' store. The latter store's loss was reported at $20,000.

Melbourne is not on a railroad, and news of the fire reached here late today.

QUESTION MARK'S RECORD IS SOUGHT IN TEXAS FLIGHT

Fort Worth, Texas, May 19.—(AP)—In an attempt to break the refueling endurance flight record established by the army monoplane Question Mark, R. L. Robbins, commercial pilot, with Jim Kelly as co-pilot, took off here today at 11:35 a. m. They used a rebuilt Ryan biplane ship, the motor of which has covered 50,000 miles.

"Best Dressed"

Katherine Francis, the screen's best-dressed woman, who appears opposite Walter Houston in "Gentlemen of the Press" at the Howard theater this week.

Reed Criticizes Immigration Stand of U. S. Chamber

Washington, May 19.—(AP)—Sharp criticism of the report of the United States Chamber of Commerce immigration committee recommending repeal of the national origins restrictive quota basis is made by Chairman Reed of the senate immigration committee in a letter to William Butterworth, president of the chamber, and made public today by the senator.

Senator Reed, who is advocating retention of the national origins basis, in opposition to President Hoover, declared the Chamber of Commerce committee's report is "biased, based on a false premise, and unsound in its conclusions."
